The Nolan Brothers have provided rides and games for the festival, which will conclude Saturday.

Youngsters may enjoy all the rides at the festival tonight from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for a reduced rate in a special opening night attraction.

Few Motorists Turn On Red

By The Associated Press

How are Ohio motorists going to become accustomed to the new law that permits right turns on red?

"When the guy behind you goes honk, honk, honk," said John P. Coleman, executive director of the Ohio Municipal League, back when the bill was before the legislature.

There were indications Tuesday that Coleman may have been right.

It was the first day for the new law and there were no indications from police departments throughout the state that it was causing motorists trouble.

But there was an inkling that Ohioans may not be taking advantage of it.

"I forgot about it," said a patrolman in Wyoming, a Cincinnati suburb. "All the time I came to work I stopped on red and I could have turned right."

In nearby Deer Park, another policeman, said he didn't think motorists were using the law. Policemen elsewhere generally agreed. They contend it will be some time before drivers become accustomed to turning right on red.

Most cities have banned the right turns by ordinances at some intersections and approaches. Under the law, the turns can be forbidden in municipalities by legislative action and posted signs.

Until Tuesday, it was just the opposite. Turns on red could be made only if a sign permitted them.

The Highway Patrol said it had received no reports of trouble resulting from the law.

"Most of the problems will be in the city," a spokesman said. "We don't have too many traffic lights on state routes."

Robert McMillen, traffic engineer for the state Division of Highways, said the state had posted 225 No Turn On Red signs, about 10 per cent of the more than 2,000 approaches.

McMillen said he thought it was too early to tell the results of the new law.

The Columbus police traffic bureau said it hadn't received any calls about the law. An officer noted that local television stations called attention to it over the past several days.

Columbus Traffic Engineer James V. Musick said the city had prohibited the turns at 230 approaches. He said he had received some complaints.

"One guy said he had five lights he thought he would be able to turn right at on his way home and all of them have been posted," Musick said.

Toledo Sgt. H. J. Scott said that city had banned the turns at 460 intersections.

Traffic was reported normal in Toledo, Cleveland, Lakewood, Euclid, Upper Arlington and other cities and suburbs around the state. One officer noted that it would be a day or so before accident reports are compiled as to sources.

"That may turn up something," one said. Another said he thought the new law would bring an increase in the number of pedestrians involved in accidents.

The right turn on red is permitted if there is no traffic coming from the left. The motorist must stop at the red light before proceeding.

Originally, the law was to go into effect Jan. 1, but was changed to July 1 after several cities said they need time to study traffic patterns and pass ordinances prohibiting the turn at certain red lights.

Weather

Mostly sunny and warm today, high, upper 80s. Clear tonight, low, mid 60s. Partly cloudy and warm Thursday, high, upper 80s. Probability of precipitation, 10 per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 89; low, 63.

New York City Workers Strike

By SAMUEL MAULL
Associated Press Writer

A wildcat strike in response to sweeping budget slashes has left New York City streets littered with 30,000 tons of garbage. In Pennsylvania, a walkout by state employees has virtually halted most day-to-day functions of state government.

Republican state legislators in Albany refused on Tuesday to give New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame new taxing powers to raise money for city coffers. He was forced to order the firing of 19,000 municipal employees, among them nearly 3,000 of the city's 10,600 sanitationmen.

Vowing that New York would become "Stink City," Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association president John J. DeLury warned that if any of his men were laid off, the rest would refuse to work. The union followed through on the threat, staging a wildcat strike. DeLury said he had lost control of his men.

Today the city had enough garbage to construct two piles the height and width of both towers of the 110-story World Trade Center.

In poorer neighborhoods the refuse grew in fetid heaps and residents worried about the potential health hazard of garbage rotting under a sweltering July sun. Others were concerned that youths would set it afire, posing yet another danger.

More problems augured for New York when heads of the Uniformed Firefighters Association and the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association said they would consider joining the sanitationmen's walkout. More than 5,000 policemen, one-sixth of the force, and 1,650 firemen received pink slips in the budget-induced firings.

A dispute over pay increases precipitated the massive strike by Pennsylvania's state employees. Lt. Gov. Ernest P. Kline estimated 50,000 employees were away from work Tuesday. Union sources said the actual figure was closer to 80,000.

The administration of Gov. Milton J. Shapp offered 3.5 per cent raises. Most of the unions, including the giant American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), want 10 per cent. The walkout by some estimates has left many of the state's offices effectively closed.

In cities such as Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Erie and Pittsburgh, there were cases of one person manning an entire state office.

Activities involving welfare assistance, unemployment, food stamps, and parks were halted. There was also the threat of a strike by state liquor store clerks whose contract expired Monday with those of other state employees.

The primary tactic of Shapp's administration has been to use the courts to force as many people back to work as possible. Of eight lawsuits filed by the state Tuesday, one resulted in an injunction against striking prison guards and guards at the Farview state hospital for the criminally insane. Another restraining order was issued against strikers at a special school for children.

In New York, the state's Taylor law prohibits strikes by public employees. Pennsylvania state employees are barred by statute from striking if public health, safety or welfare is threatened.

Council Gives EMR Team Authority To Begin Service

The Circleville Emergency Medical Rescue team became a reality Tuesday after City Council approved a resolution authorizing its operation.

There are presently 60 trained persons to operate the vehicle on a volunteer basis from noon to midnight. When a third class has completed its training, by early fall, the EMR team will go on a 24-hour schedule.

The EMR vehicle is staffed with three men and they stay with the vehicle while on duty. The team is still looking for a solution to the housing problem for the vehicle.

The resolution was the only legislation passed by Council Tuesday because not enough members were present to act on other matters. Absent because of vacations were Council President Joe Bell, fourth ward councilman Dixie Watters and councilman at large Ben Gordon.

ROUNDTOWN

PICKAWAY County Blood Program officials today issued a last-minute plea for blood donors at the visit on Thursday. Reports received this week from the Columbus Center indicate that 197 units of blood have been given residents of Pickaway County in Columbus and Circleville since the last visit of the Bloodmobile on May 27. This does not include a number of transfusions received by county citizens in hospitals outside the region.

The May visit produced only 118 units which indicates that we have used twice as much blood as we have contributed during the past few weeks. One patient received 47 transfusions in an unsuccessful effort to save her life.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Community United Methodist Church. Call 474-5736 for an appointment.

THE Pickaway County Commissioners will consider shortening or changing additional road names in regular session Monday, at 10 a.m. in the County Courthouse in the Commissioners office. The purpose of the name shortening and renaming is to provide a more convenient address to rural residents. Many existing road names are very long and would make a very long address. New addresses are utilizing road names and numbers. According to Paul Smith and Gregg Pyle, county numerators, the rural numbering is preceding east of the Scioto River at this time. The new addresses are being released as rapidly as the field work can be done and the addresses verified by the post office.

Roads being considered for change or shortening Monday are as follows:

Circleville-Lockbourne Road to Cromley Road (South of Ashville) and Ashville Pike (North of Ashville); Jefferson-Westfall-Emmit Road to DuPont Road (East-West section north of Township Road 51) and River Drive. (North-South section west end of Township Road 51 and East-West section south of Township Road 51); Hayesville-Zane Trail Road to Zane Trail Road; Morris Church-Salem Road to Morris Salem Road.

Councilman David Crawford served as president pro tem Tuesday. Other council members present were Tom Wells, David Goldschmidt, John Jenkins and Harold Hoffman.

Two resolutions and an ordinance were held for the next council meeting. Read for the second time was legislation authorizing the installation of 17 additional street lights in the Garden Subdivision. The third and final reading of this ordinance will be held at the next council meeting July 15.

Two resolutions declaring the necessity of installing curbs and gutters and sidewalks on East High Street between Pickaway Street and Stella Ave. and on Atwater Avenue between Wilson Avenue and Morris Road were read and held for the next meeting.

In a communication to council, Service Director Atwood P. Jones informed members the estimated rate of assessment for the property owners involved would be $5 per lineal foot for curb and gutter and $5 per lineal foot for sidewalks. The cost is to be assessed the property owners on a basis of front foot of the property and shall be paid when levied in 15 annual installments with interest on the unpaid installments at the same rate as is carried by the bonds to be issued to pay for the improvement. However, the property owner has the option of paying the assessment within 30 days after the passage of the ordinance levying such assessments.

Mayor Frank Barnhill informed council the statutory budget has been prepared and copies are on file in the office of Marvene Turner, city auditor.

The Mayor warned council that inflation is cutting into the income from taxes and the city will soon be faced with the alternatives of providing less service and spending more conservatively or providing more income by increasing taxes.

To back up his warning, Mayor Barnhill reported that in 1973, the city finished the year with a balance of approximately $170,000. The balance in 1974 was approximately $110,000, the projected balance at the end of 1975 is $80,000 and the projected balance in the statutory budget for 1976 is only $3,000. In addition, the mayor anticipates a decrease in federal revenue sharing monies next year.

David Goldschmidt, chairman of council's finance committee, reported there will be an increase in the amount of money the city is required to pay into the police and firemen pension funds next year.

Crawford said a public hearing will be held prior to the July 15 meeting concerning the budget.

Columbia Gas of Ohio sent a communication to council informing of a 1.92 cents per 1,000 cubic feet reduction in the gas rate for customers in Circleville.

A letter from The Ohio Department of Liquor Control informing council of an application for a carryout liquor permit submitted by Maurice Johnson, 127 E. Main St., was read. Chief of Police Robert Temple informed council he had conducted an investigation and saw no reason to object to the issuance of the permit.

Prior to last night's meeting, council held a public hearing on a request to rezone a tract of land at the intersection of Lancaster Pike and Pontius Lane.

James W. Ford, who owns the lot and operates a used car business there, has requested the lot be rezoned from AR-1 multiple dwellings to general business. He stated that he made the request so he could construct a building to be used in conjunction with the business.

In conjunction with the hearing, a petition was presented signed by several area residents stating they did not object as long as the zoning was limited to the location of the used car lot. One area resident did object to the rezoning because he felt it would "open the area up for any kind of business."

Councilman John Jenkins asked service director Atwood Jones if this would not be spot zoning. Jones explained that the land across Pontius Lane is zoned general business already so it would not be considered spot zoning.

Legislation concerning the rezoning will be presented at the July 15 meeting.

Montagnard Tribesmen Slated For Washington

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif., (AP) — Montagnard tribesmen from Indochina, thrust into the modern world by defeat in a war they scarcely understood, will be resettled in remote mountain areas of western Washington, officials here say.

"Their knowledge of the outside world is so little that for sheer survival they must remain together," Nick Thorne, director of the refugee program, says of the Montagnard refugees.

Thorne said the Montagnards will be placed in villages of their own in western Washington, where the altitude and climate most nearly match that of their lost homes on the Laos-Vietnam border.

Washington state officials said they knew of no such plan.

Tom Pryor, head of the Washington state Office of Emergency Services which administers the state's Vietnamese refugee program, expressed surprise.

"I'm overwhelmed," Pryor said. "I believe they (Camp Pendleton officials) would be well advised to contact us about it so we could listen to the proposal and then say 'yea' or 'nay.'"

The Montagnards, who fought the Viet Cong from their mountain homes, are completely unprepared to deal with the 20th Century, Thorne said. He said some had never been more than three miles from their villages before their flight to the United States.

"They have lived a relatively immobile existence at a very primitive level," Thorne said. He added that he had recommended they be given jobs with the National Park Service because they are "damn good woodsmen."

He said residents of Washington state should have no fears that the tribesmen will become a public burden.

"They won't show up on the relief roles," Thorne said. "Their standard of living is not very expensive."

About 40 Montagnards have arrived at this Southern California refugee center and another 400 are expected, Thorne said.

Witness Held In FBI Hunt

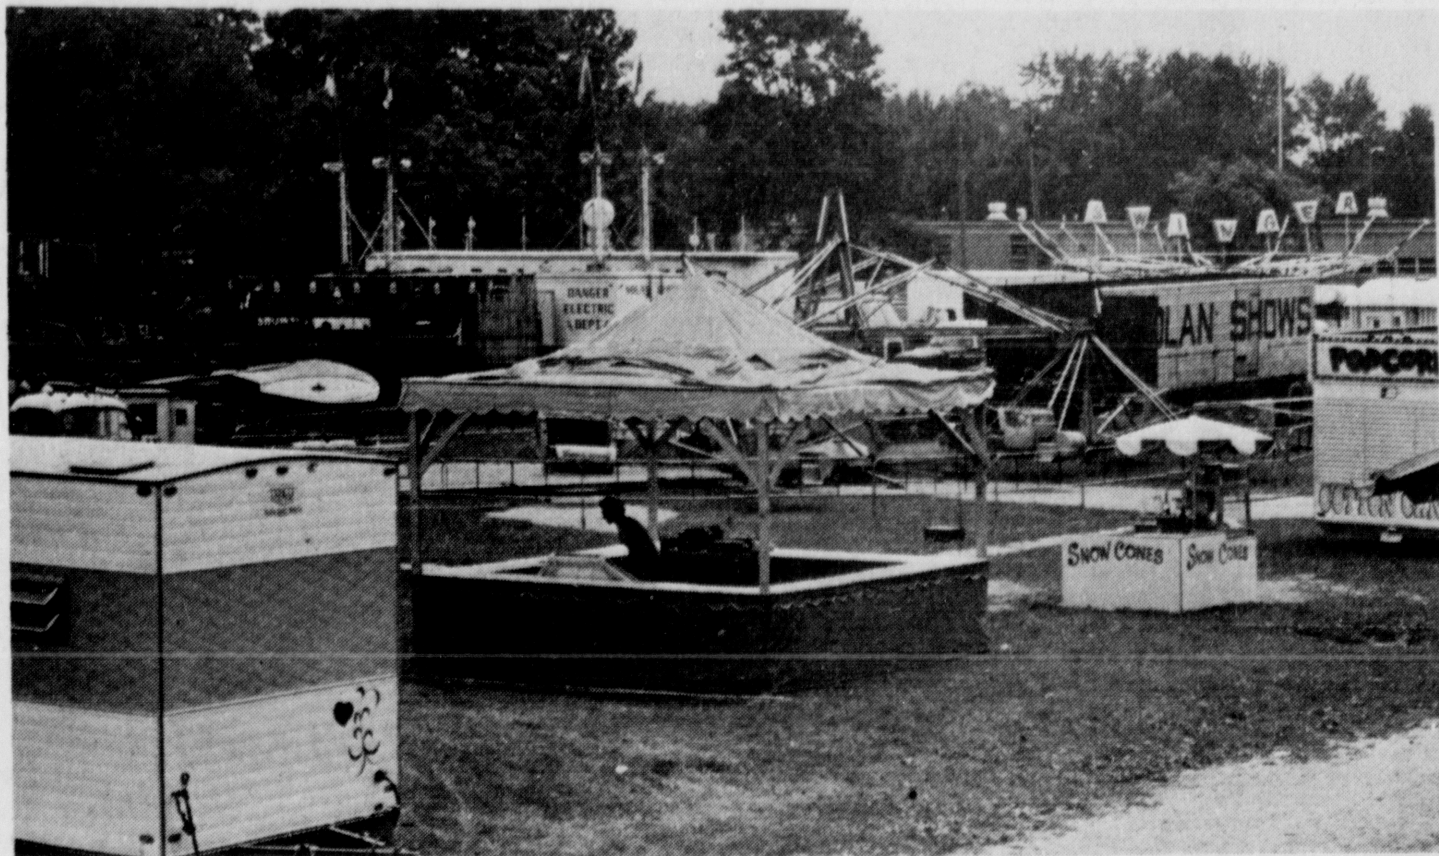

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (AP) — The FBI says a material witness is being held under $25,000 bond in connection with the fatal shooting of two FBI agents on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation.

An FBI spokesman identified the witness Tuesday night as David Sky. His age and hometown were not available.

The spokesman said Sky had been picked up by Bureau of Indian Affairs officials on another matter. The spokesman said the FBI later interviewed Sky and held him as a material witness in the slayings.

U.S. Atty. William F. Clayton of Sioux Falls said Sky appeared Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate James H. Wilson of Rapid City after his arrest and was being held to testify before a federal grand jury this month in Rapid City.

He said an affidavit was filed with Wilson saying the FBI has reason to believe that Sky was at or near the scene when FBI agents Ronald Williams of Rapid City and Jack Coler of Denver were shot last Thursday.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined sharply today under the weight of concern over the possibility of an upswing in the bank prime lending rate.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 10.40 at 867.02, and losers outstripped gainers by more than a 3-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

There was published speculation this morning that New York's First National City Bank would increase its prime, or basic rate on business loans, from 6 1/2 to 7 per cent Thursday morning because of the recent upturn in open market money rates.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .69 to 92.55.

Rising interest rates are usually a drag on stock prices for two reasons: They raise businesses' borrowing costs and thus tend to discourage economic expansion; and they increase the attractiveness of interest-bearing investments, which compete with stocks for investors' money.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off .50 at 50.18.

Jill Blue Departs For South America

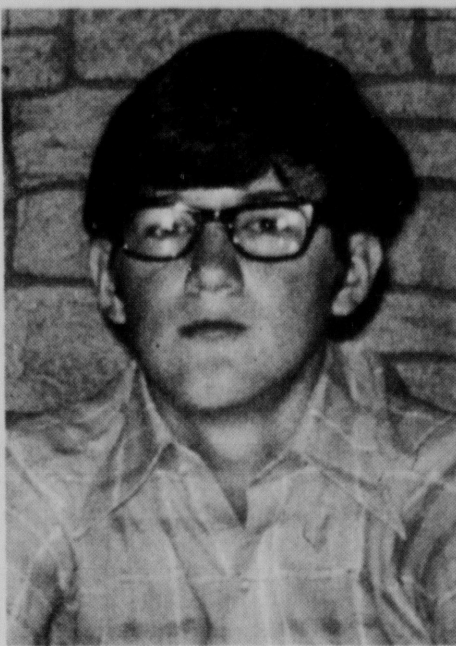

JILL BLUE

Yes, two more giant-sized Circleville Pumpkin Show stickers went winging their way to another continent — South America. Thanks to Clarence Radcliffe, they accompanied the baggage of Jill Blue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Blue, Route 5.

As a foreign exchange student through International Fellowship and the scholarship awarded her through Teays Valley High School, Jill will be making her home with the family of Sr. Rafael and Sra. Rocio Posada de Londono of Medellin, Colombia, for approximately three months. Besides her foster parents, she will have three brothers, Rafael, Andres, and Miguel; and two sisters, Beatriz and Lina.

Jill's brother, Mark, preceded her in leaving the U.S. for the summer. On June 10 he left for Rivas, Nicaragua in Central America, where he is a guest in the home of Dr. Plutarco and Sra. Nora Jimenez de Pasos and their sons, Jairo and Javier, and daughter Vanessa.

MARK BLUE

Both Jill and Mark are enrolled in schools in their respective cities as it is not vacation time in either South or Central America. Mark will have a semester break in July at which time the Pasos family will vacation in their neighboring country Costa Rica. Jill expects to take some planned tours which are sanctioned by the Fellowship and school as well.

Jill and Mark's younger brother, Shawn, is at home and in the "lawn grooming" business in hopes of being able to finance a trip south for himself in the next year or two.

Policeman Slain; Suspect Kills Self

More KSU Testimony Heard

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The only Ohio National Guardsman to say he issued an order to fire the day 13 students were shot at Kent State University was to take the witness stand today in the damages trial stemming from the shootings.

Former guard Sgt. Mathew McManus testified during the criminal trial of guardsmen involved in the incident that he told his men to fire one shot in the air.

The West Salem resident said that when he saw other guardsmen firing he thought he must have missed an order from a guard officer.

Four students were killed and nine wounded on May 4, 1970. The victims and their families are suing for $46 million in damages.

Defendants include Gov. James A. Rhodes, who as governor at the time, had ordered troops to the campus. The governor's order came during a weekend of rioting that included burning of the campus Reserve Officers Training Corps building.

Also on trial are three ex-state officials and 39 present or former guardsmen.

Earlier, one of the highest ranking officers at the scene called the firings indiscriminate and said he didn't know why the troops were shouting.

"They were firing to the trees, on the ground, all over the place," Maj. Harry Jones of Columbus told the court.

Later, the major testified he saw a rush of students from his right and said he believed the troops had a reason to fire.

"With the intensity and aggressiveness of the students, I had a fear they might overtake the guard and some guardsmen might not protect himself enough and (a student might) get a weapon away from him," Jones said.

The officer said he moved instantly to stop the firing, tapping troops on their helmets, pushing rifles up and even grabbing onto soldiers by the collar.

He denied that the shooting began immediately after he gave the men a signal to hurry up the campus slope where they suddenly turned and fired.

Jones demonstrated for the jury the pointing motion he said was a signal to fire under combat conditions and the circular motion he said he used to urge the men to close ranks as they climbed the hill.

"I don't see how that could be misinterpreted," he said.

Defense attorneys sought to place in evidence rocks, tree limbs, pieces of tile and other missiles they said were found near the site of the shootings. But lawyers for the victims blocked the effort, showing Jones could not say where each item came from.

The damages trial is in its seventh week in U.S. District Court. Criminal charges against eight guardsmen were ordered dropped last fall by a federal judge who ruled the government had failed to prove its case.

2 Charged In Mailbox Damaging

Through the alertness and assistance of a Pickaway County resident, two men were apprehended and charged with damaging a mailbox belonging to John Noecker, Route 1, Ashville, 11:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Jeffrey Allen Rumer, 18, Ashville and Charles Smallwood, 19, Route 5, were charged with criminal damaging by Sheriff's Deputy Jack Moats, when they placed a firecracker inside Noecker's mailbox causing $19 damage.

Following the act of vandalism, Noecker chased the Rumer vehicle, which was traveling at a high rate of speed west on Campbell Road. Rumer lost control of his auto and traveled left of center into a fence.

Noecker was able to detain the duo until Deputy Moats arrived at the scene.

Appearing in Municipal Court today, Rumer was fined $150 for criminal damaging and $100 for reckless operation and Smallwood $150 for the criminal damaging. Both were placed in the Pickaway County jail in lieu of the fine.

16-Year-Old Girl Hurt In Cycle Wreck

Sixteen-year-old Marsha L. Woolever, Route 1, Kingston, was transferred to the Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital for injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident, 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Billy Huffman, Miss Woolever was westbound on the Kingston-Whisler Road when she failed to negotiate a curve to the right.

The cycle traveled into a ditch and creek before coming to rest.

Miss Woolever was taken to the hospital for a broken leg and multiple contusions, abrasions and lacerations.

U.S. Missile Use Policy Clarified

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger says that U.S. policy opposing "first strike" nuclear capacity to wipe out Russia's missiles does not mean that the United States opposes the "first use" of strategic weapons against the U.S.S.R.

Some congressmen and others have been under the impression that the United States long ago renounced any first use of strategic weapons such as long-range missiles aimed at the Soviet Union, or of shorter range tactical nuclear weapons in Europe and South Korea.

The confusion apparently arises from a failure to recognize a distinction between "first use" of nuclear weapons on a limited scale and a massive "first strike" that could disarm an opponent.

Schlesinger said such a "first use" could conceivably involve a selective strike at targets in the Soviet Union. "But it is a very low probability," he said.

"We are pledged as we have been for many years to deterrence and defense of Western Europe and we are prepared, should the need arise, to use those weapons in that way," Schlesinger said Tuesday.

The secretary of defense did not discuss the circumstances under which the United States might launch a selective, limited nuclear attack against targets in the Soviet Union.

But he has stressed in the past that the United States might, for example, aim a single long-range missile at a military-related target in the Soviet Union if a major Soviet attack on NATO appeared imminent.

The theory is that such a limited strike might make the Russians change their minds and agree to a political solution, thus forestalling an attack on the United States or its allies with few Soviet civilian casualties.

Levi Says Justice Department Sets Prosecution Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi says he won't ask President Ford's permission if he decides to prosecute those involved in Central Intelligence Agency assassination plots and domestic wrongdoing.

Justice Department spokesman Robert Feldkamp said Tuesday that Ford has offered assurances that the attorney general will be free to decide whether to bring criminal charges against CIA personnel without presidential instructions.

"The attorney general has made clear to the President that he (Levi) will retain any prosecutorial discretion," Feldkamp said. "They did discuss this and Ford had no problem with it."

The question arose after the President said in a Washington Post interview Monday that he would "expect to be informed" by Levi before any prosecution of government officials for past CIA activities and "would certainly want to discuss the pros and cons" of any criminal charges.

Questioned last Wednesday, Levi said "I would feel obligated to tell the President, to communicate the position of the department" on any prosecution stemming from the department's review of CIA activities, some of which the Rockefeller Commission labeled "plainly unlawful."

But the attorney general asserted, "I would not expect the President to tell the department what to do."

After learning of Ford's remarks,

Chessie Reports Earnings Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Chessie System, Inc. says a sharp increase in revenue from coal movements helped boost earnings and operating revenues for the first half of 1975.

Chessie, which operates the Chesapeake and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio, and Western Maryland railroads, said Tuesday the six month earnings totaled $40.1 million, or $2.17 per share, compared to $38.6 million, or $2.18 a share, for the corresponding period last year.

The average shares outstanding in the first half were 18.4 million, compared with 17.7 million a year earlier, accounting for the decline in per-share earnings.

Operating revenues were $644.4 million for the first half of the year, compared with $627.8 million for the first six months of 1974.

State Stores Closed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State liquor stores and agencies will be closed Friday, July 4, a legal holiday for state employees, Liquor Director Clifford E. Reich announced.

Levi "said there is plenty of room for the two statements to coexist," the spokesman related.

"The President certainly would be notified routinely if any prosecution the department might initiate would deal with national security or foreign policy," Feldkamp added.

He said Levi told Ford two weeks ago that "the decision had to be made here" in the Justice Department and there have been no different instructions from the White House since then.

During the session with reporters last Wednesday, the attorney general also announced that he will make a public explanation if the department chooses not to prosecute a borderline case involving CIA misdeeds.

He said it's possible that department officials might conclude that CIA personnel violated the law, yet bring no criminal charges because of a slim chance of getting a conviction.

First Aid For Heart Attack Victims

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, a man had a heart attack at the ball park. The only member of his family present was his small son. The police and hospital were notified immediately, but it took them 20 minutes to arrive.

Meanwhile, about 30 people stood around, but nobody seemed to know what to do. The poor man hasn't regained consciousness yet, and it's doubtful that he will.

Abby, I took first aid in school and was taught what to do for bee stings and poison ivy, but I can't remember learning how to administer first aid to a victim of a heart attack. It doesn't make much sense that it isn't taught in first aid, considering that heart disease is the nation's No. 1 killer.

You would be doing a great public service if you published instructions on what to do for a heart-attack victim until professional help arrives. I am sure many lives could be saved.

CONCERNED IN N.O.
DEAR CONCERNED: I consulted one of the world's foremost authorities Donald B. Effler, senior cardiovascular surgeon at the Cleveland Clinic. His reply:

"The victim should lie flat. Closed chest massaging should be applied immediately. (This is manually compressing the victim's chest 50 to 60 times a minute.) Mouth to mouth breathing should be given at the same time if possible, so the complete first-aid treatment requires two people.

"If only one is present, these two procedures should be administered alternately. Victims have been known to be revived with this emergency treatment even after the heart has stopped beating.

"Victims of suffocating and drowning should be treated in the same manner. The two life-saving essentials, oxygen and circulation, can be provided without equipment in the above manner in an emergency situation.

"Unfortunately, our society has adopted a policy of 'non-involvement'! In our major cities, people ignore the cries of victims who might be saved from homicide, rape or even violent death. In case you mention it is likely that one or more competent people stood by when their intervention might have saved a life.

"It's difficult for the average citizen to believe that he can get into trouble by helping his fellow man-but he can! In some states, legal action has been taken against people who have administered first-aid at the scene of an accident.

"In a number of states, the so-called 'good samaritan law' has been passed to prevent taking legal action against people who try to help others.

"In my own profession, it is common practice for doctors to drive away from emergency situations on highways where they could be of very real help. This is not 'inhumanity' on the

Fatal Air Crash Followed Wind Warning

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Airlines jetliner that crashed last Tuesday was cleared to land in a thunderstorm despite another jet pilot's warnings of dangerous air turbulence and his strong recommendations that the affected runway be closed, tapes reveal.

The crash shortly after 4 p.m. June 24 of Eastern Flight 56 nonstop from New Orleans killed 112 persons in the nation's worst single-airplane disaster. The plane was attempting to land at Kennedy International Airport.

The tapes of the exchange between the pilot of a Flying Tiger DC8 cargo jet and the control tower, made public Monday by Federal Aviation Administration officials, include this exchange:

"I just highly recommend that you change the runways and, ah, land northwest," the pilot of the Flying Tiger DC8 cargo jet warned. "You have such a tremendous wind shear down near, ah, near the ground on the final (approach)."

The tower replied that its instruments showed the runway that the New Orleans flight was to use was the proper one under weather conditions at that time. "O.K. We're indicating wind right down the runway at 15 knots when you landed," the air traffic controller said.

The Flying Tiger pilot snapped: "I don't care what you're indicating. I'm just telling you that there's such a wind shear on the final on that runway, you should change it to the northwest."

A wind shear is the violent movement of two adjacent layers of air in different directions.

Seconds after the Flying Tiger pilot's warning, Eastern Airlines Flight 902, an L1011 jumbo jet, pulled up when only 100 feet off the ground rather than land in the strong winds. One report said the jet missed the approach light stanchions by no more than 20 feet.

The pilot of Flight 902 gave the tower a detailed account of the missed landing and the treacherous air currents and diverted to Newark Airport where he landed safely. Shortly after the jumbo jet went to Newark, a Finnair DC8 and a small, twin-engine propeller plane landed safely on runway 22 left. Flight 66 was still miles from the airport.

At about 4 p.m., the ill-fated Eastern Flight 66, a Boeing 727 carrying 124 persons, requested landing instructions.

The controller responded, "O.K. Eastern 66. Turn left, heading 220. Did you copy that, sir?"

"That's affirmative," the Eastern pilot, Capt. John Kleven, answered. The tower cleared the approach to Runway 22 Left.

A few seconds before 4:04 p.m., Kleven, apparently concerned about runway wetness, asked, "Got any report on braking action for 66?"

At 15 seconds after 4:04, the controller replied, "No, none. Approach end of the runway is wet and I'd say about the first half is wet but we've had no adverse reports."

At 4:05 p.m., a half-mile from the runway, Eastern Flight 66 tore through several approach light stanchions, rose momentarily, hit more stanchions, flipped over and exploded in a ball of fire.

The controller responded, "O.K. Eastern 66. Turn left, heading 220. Did you copy that, sir?"

"That's affirmative," the Eastern pilot, Capt. John Kleven, answered. The tower cleared the approach to Runway 22 Left.

A few seconds before 4:04 p.m., Kleven, apparently concerned about runway wetness, asked, "Got any report on braking action for 66?"

At 15 seconds after 4:04, the controller replied, "No, none. Approach end of the runway is wet but we've had about the first half is wet but we've had no adverse reports."

At 4:05 p.m., a half-mile from the runway, Eastern Flight 66 tore through several approach light stanchions, rose momentarily, hit more stanchions, flipped over and exploded in a ball of fire.

Social Security Taxes

Before it became obvious an imbalance was developing in the Social Security accounts between revenues and payouts, Congress had established a Social Security tax increase for next year. The tax rate will remain at 5.85 per cent, but the wage ceiling against which it is applied is scheduled to increase from the present $14,100 to $16,500.

That action will raise the Social Security taxes of persons earning at least $16,500 from this year's $824.85 to $965.25 in 1976. At this point in new congressional deliberations on Social Security funding, that which is certain. But it may be only the tip of the iceberg on new taxes.

In hearings before a House Ways and Means subcommittee, two former high officials of the Social Security system urged sharply higher taxes to offset changing population trends which find fewer persons paying in and larger numbers as beneficiaries, as well as added stresses caused by the recession.

Former Social Security commissioner Robert Ball proposed the wage ceiling be lifted to $24,000 by 1977, amounting to a tax increase of $579.15 for persons earning that much. Other proposals called for varying amounts of tax increases.

Judging by the thrust of current Social Security testimony, taxes for that purpose could become the predominant federal tax for most workers within the next few years.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 2, the 183rd day of 1975. There are 182 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1881, President James Garfield was shot by a disappointed Chicago office seeker, Charles Guiteau, at the Washington railroad station. Garfield died September 19.

On this date: In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Act, giving the states millions of acres of land to establish land-grant colleges.

In 1890, the Sherman Antitrust Act was passed by Congress.

In 1926, the U.S. Army Air Corps was created.

In 1937, Amelia Earhart Putnam was last heard from on a flight over the Pacific.

In 1955, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson suffered a heart attack.

In 1961, writer Ernest Hemingway committed suicide at his home in Ketchum, Idaho.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson's younger daughter, Luci Baines, converted to the Roman Catholic Church on her 18th birthday.

Five years ago: House Speaker John McCormack told a Federal judge and jury in Washington he was unaware that people he regarded as friends were misusing his office for the benefit of commercial clients.

One year ago: President Richard Nixon and Soviet Communist Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev announced in Moscow that U.S.-Soviet agreement had been reached on limitation of underground nuclear test.

Today's birthday: Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall is 67 years old.

Thought for today: May you live all the days of your life — Jonathan Swift, Irish writer, 1677-1745.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that George Washington arrived to Massachusetts to take command of American forces defying the British early in the American Revolution.

The Joke's The Thing

By JIM BISHOP

An old buddy stopped by for a weekend. Al Horwitz is a reformed Philadelphia baseball writer who made it big in Hollywood. Once upon a time he beat the public relations drums for Mark Hellinger, who produced "The Killers" and "Naked City."

He is older, wiser and works as hard for writer-director Richard Brooks. The best move Brooks made was to marry the lovely Jean Simmons, although his new picture, "Bite the Bullet," is bound to be more profitable.

Horwitz, sadly, is a practical joker. At home, he is prone to phone his temple and announce, "This is Rabbi Korff. I am speaking to you from San Clemente. It would be nice if you invited me to address your congregation at Friday night services."

It was laughing Al who arranged a Hollywood visit for Mr. and Mrs. Toots Shor. Horwitz was working for Hellinger, another practical joker.

The Shors were met at the airport and, en route to the Beverly Hills Hotel, saw a big sign: "The Original Toots Shor." Toots went into a spasm of rage and stopped the car.

He ran to the restaurant and, as he opened the door to protest, he was met by his double coming out. "What do you want," the look-alike roared, "you crumb bum?"

It shook Mr. S. The elaborate, costly joke had been set up by Hellinger and Horwitz, a devilish combination. Central casting, of course, supplied the character who looked and spoke like Shor.

At the Beverly Hills villa, Toots complained that he had no sipping whiskey. H & H sent a case of Scotch every morning for 30 days. It was stacked up to the ceiling.

Nunnally Johnson, in his time, was as fine a screen writer as Richard Brooks is now. Johnson, an otherwise sane man, once wrote to Hellinger in New York:

"You can't come out to Hollywood and be a producer unless you can walk under a bridge table with a high hat on."

Mr. Johnson was entranced by weird names. He was leafing through a Hollywood casting directory when he spotted the name of a bit player: Gizella Verbichek Piffle.

He didn't believe it. So he dialed her home number. "May I speak to Gizella Verbichek Piffle?" "This is Gizella Verbichek Piffle speaking."

"Oh, well this is Nunnally Johnson." "Nunnally who?" "Nunnally Johnson." "Never heard of you." "Is it possible that I am speaking to the wrong Gizella Verbichek Piffle?" Hang up.

You don't have to be nuts to understand these people, but it's a real plus. If Horwitz could do Anwar Sadat's voice, he'd call President Ford and yelp, "In about an hour you're gonna be real sorry for what you did to Egypt."

Mike Frankovich had a secretary at Columbia Pictures who was pretty and efficient. She made one mistake. She was prone to park her little car in front of the main entrance to the studio.

Al hung a sign on her windshield wiper: "Sir: Sorry I scratched your car. Will make arrangements with a paint shop." The signature was indecipherable. The girl went out of her mind looking for a scratch.

The following day another printed message: "It wasn't your car that was scratched. You scratched mine. You will hear from my lawyer." She faced a breakdown or a new parking place. She moved the car.

Plant Blast Trial Set

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — A trial date of Aug. 14 was set Tuesday for the Rev. David Bubar after he pleaded innocent to state charges in the firebombing of a Shelton plant.

Bubar was arraigned before Superior Court Judge George A. Saden on charges of conspiracy to commit arson, conspiracy to commit kidnapping and conspiracy to commit burglary, all in the first degree.

Earlier Tuesday, Saden said Hackensack, N.J. attorney Rudolph L. Zalowitz will be allowed to help Bubar's Connecticut attorney in Bubar's defense against state charges.

Bubar is being held in the state jail here on $100,000 bond. He has also pleaded innocent to federal charges for which he has posted $20,000 bond.

Bubar is one of 10 men under federal indictment in the explosions and fire that destroyed a Sponge Rubber Products Co. plant March 1. Nine of the men also face state charges.

Fireman Battle Fire Truck Fire

FAIRFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Fairfield firemen battled a new opponent Tuesday: their fire truck.

After putting out a small brush fire in a field, the firefighters found their truck was on fire.

Straw from the field had come in contact with the manifold part of the engine, setting the truck ablaze.

There were no injuries in the unexpected second fire fighting incident, firemen said.

Charles Martel defeated the Moslems in 732 A.D. checking their advance into Western Europe. It was called both the Battle of Tours and the Battle of Poitiers.

pensive homburg which nobody likes. He made the mistake of hanging it on a clothes tree. Al and his elf studied the hat, and learned that it was bought at Cavanaugh's.

They bought an exact duplicate, except it was a half-size larger. The man's initials were placed inside the hat band. They hid his, put theirs on the tree. The pompous exec put it on, and it came down over his ears.

He was sure his skull had shrunk. The next day, they hid the oversized sombrero and put tissue inside the original hat. When the man departed, the hat was perched on top of his pimple-head.

The exec was in distress. By this time he was phoning Cavanaugh's to complain. Those people never heard of a hat which, one day, was too large, and the next day too small. Horwitz kept switching hats until the owner took it from the hat tree and dropped it all the way down a long corridor.

When he left my house, Al was headed for Washington to show "Bite the Bullet" to some movie critics. I asked the airline to put the film on a plane bound for Charlotte. Know something? Those people have no sense of humor...

Dear Editor:

I am writing to commend two of our men on the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, Deputy James Dixon and Deputy Jack Moats, for their outstanding work and alert response.

We needed help at Deer Creek Lake Sunday at approximately 11 p.m. Our boat motor had stalled and we were unable to start it. My husband and myself, in one car, and the wife and mother of the two stranded in another car, went for help to tow us in. For over an hour and a half we tried to get it started and couldn't.

It took all of us one hour to find any help of any kind on or around the lake area, and by that time the boat and two occupants had drifted out of sight and ear shot. Cold and alone, those two, father and son, sat in the boat for two hours unknowing whether help was on the way or not.

The motor had started long enough for them to drift beyond being able to get back. Lights or horn would not operate. By the time my husband and I finally found someone at the camping area office, my sister-in-law had become upset enough to call the Pickaway County Sheriff's office.

These two deputies were in the South Bloomfield area and arrived to aid us only five minutes after the park patrol officers, who were supposed to be in the area, arrived. Deputy Dixon and Moats were most helpful and understanding and we want to let them know how we all appreciated their speedy arrival and their assistance. Their presence alone made us feel safer.

Thanks again,
MRS. DAVID L. MORRIS

Grain Probe Memo Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department was warned nearly three years ago that an official of one of the nation's six largest grain exporting firms was linked to alleged irregularities in grain exports, a department memorandum shows.

The official, Melvin L. Hibbets, was manager of Bayside Elevator Co. in Reserve, La. He is now vice president of the Bayside Elevator Division, a subsidiary of Cook Industries, Inc., in Memphis, Tenn.

The department memorandum lists three alleged violations of the U.S. Grain Standards Act and recommends that "all of the apparent irregularities by Hibbets and CII (Cook Industries) be investigated by the Office of the Inspector General."

A spokesman for the Office of Investigations, which has replaced the Office of the Inspector General, said the material in the memo was still under investigation and that no final action has been taken.

Hibbets was unavailable for comment. A Cook Industries, Inc., attorney said Hibbets was not at his Memphis office and the lawyer would not say where he could be reached.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I teach school. After a day's work I can barely whisper. With rest, the voice comes back. Then the cycle repeats itself. Examination of my vocal cords showed them to be perfectly normal. Consequently, I am confused.

Miss R. E. F., Mich.

Dear Miss F.: Hoarseness is an occupational hazard of teachers, singers, preachers and salesmen.

They all have in common the use and overuse of the muscles of the vocal cords. Sometimes, barely perceptible thickening of the vocal cords may be responsible for the periods of hoarseness you describe.

When one considers the fact that the vocal cords can be strained, as can any muscle in the body, the obvious answer to such a problem is rest.

Tired, overworked muscles deserve such rest. A great mistake is made by people who are hoarse when they assume they are resting their larynx by whispering. Actually, whispering puts greater strain on the vocal cords than does gentle, controlled speaking.

The use of a steam inhaler is very beneficial. It soothes the larynx and is particularly restful.

Even in the absence of any changes in the vocal cord, it might be worthwhile to seek the advice of a speech therapist. Often they are able to pinpoint some speech patterns which can be responsible for repeated attacks.

My father had a kidney removed. Can he be expected to live a normal life span?

Mr. T. H., Ga.

Dear Mr. H.:

One of the great marvels of the body is that two kidneys are present. They both function harmoniously, to get rid of waste products. When one kidney is removed, the other kidney adequately takes care of this need.

With special diets that do not overburden the remaining kidney, normal function exists.

In the absence of infection or disease in the remaining kidney, normal life expectancy should not be affected.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH ... Loose-fitting clothing near an open flame is a distinct fire hazard. Housewives are warned to be careful about sleeves over the gas range.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If the harvest weather is good and the oil-producing countries don't raise their prices and a capital shortage doesn't develop and the housing and automotive industries do better — we're out of the woods.

Which is to say that while things are looking up it doesn't take superior vision to see the potential obstacles scattered about the road ahead.

It is partly for this reason that you can take your pick of a variety of outlooks, most of them a bit better than those of two months ago but most also loaded with one warning or another.

Among the pocketbook issues, the biggest obstruction to recovery is likely to be the continuation of a relatively high rate of unemployment into next year.

While the recession "for all practical purposes" might be over, as the Ford administration has viewed the scene, it is still deep and ominous and very painful in the view of labor leaders.

The May jobless rate was 9.2 per cent and could go even higher before summer ends. The Congressional Budget Office estimates the rate will be near 9 per cent through 1975 and fall only to 7.8 per cent to 8.2 per cent by the end of 1976.

Such a rate of joblessness is bound to restrain any improvement in retail sales, automobiles included. It will deprive the nation of the use of productive skills. It will mean a drain on taxes. It might mean social crises.

One explanation for the poor job outlook is the number of other obstacles on the road to recovery. Business fears expanding too swiftly, lest it be caught far out on a limb. Expansion plans are still being cut.

As this wait-and-see attitude continues, production facilities remain idle and so do workers. Even when production begins slowly to improve, companies might be reluctant to hire proportionately, hoping for a time at least to obtain greater output per manhour. Over the next few months watch the news out of the U.S. Farm Belt and even from foreign countries.

Record harvests are expected, but weather almost always deals a blow to human expectations. A poor harvest here, or almost anywhere in the world, could reduce the expected surpluses.

Yes, the country seems to be coming out of the economic woods. It can see the road ahead, but it will take some careful driving to wheel a big vehicle like the American economy through the obstructions without a few scrapes.

Woman Faces Fraud Charges

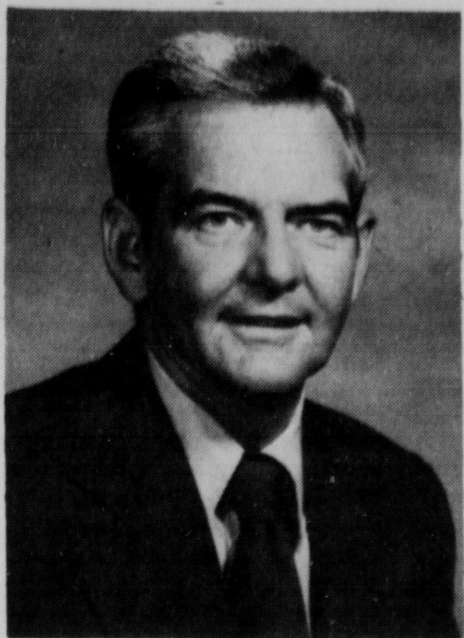

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A former St. Louis woman has been ordered to appear here July 7 on an indictment charging her with 12 counts of mail fraud in an alleged scheme to bilk insurance companies.

A U.S. magistrate in Ohio set the appearance date for Rosie Lee Vinson, 25, of Mansfield, Ohio, and freed her on $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Vinson was charged by a federal grand jury in May with defrauding at least 14 insurance companies between 1969 and 1974. The indictment was suppressed until federal authorities were able to locate the woman, who turned herself in after she learned of the indictment.

SPEDY Funds Used To Help Young People Find Jobs

About 80 Pickaway County young people traded their summer "freedom" for good-paying jobs as the Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth (SPEDY) became operational.

Carol Smallwood, summer youth program director for the Pickaway County Community Action Agency, thinks "the program will work out real well this year" because there is "more money to work with than last year."

But the status of the SPEDY funding was in doubt, necessitating some last minute decisions on the part of PICCA.

Proposed Manpower Utilization money was frozen by President Gerald Ford's veto of the congress-approved measure. But, last week, the president signed the bill into law.

The funds filtered down through Ohio's Department of Economic and Community Development and were released recently to the Regional Manpower Service Council.

The six-county area of Pickaway, Madison, Fairfield, Fayette, Clinton, and Union, was granted $315,212.09 for implementation of the program, with PICCA receiving $42,712.09 for the nine-week period.

Ms. Smallwood and the PICCA staff interviewed about 130 young people who were interested in the program and selected 78 who met the program criteria.

The young people must be between the ages of 14 and 21 and must meet federal poverty income guidelines, she said.

Ms. Smallwood then had the task of contacting local non-profit agencies for utilization of the young people, who for the most part are unqualified and lack job experience.

Two counselors, Teresa Troutman and Jay Meena, serve as counselors for the program, coordinating and supervising the work of the young people with PICCA directives.

The 78 SPEDY workers will receive $2.10 an hour for their 25-hour work weeks. The program will end Aug. 31.

Primary purpose of the short-term employment is to enhance the future employability of the young people. SPEDY helps them adjust to work settings and provides jobs for those youth who have no definite occupational goal or for who no training or job opportunities immediately exist.

Most of the jobs involved seasonal maintenance work, Ms. Smallwood said, especially lawn maintenance at state parks and municipal cemeteries.

Some of the SPEDY people will be used in county and city school systems for janitorial and maintenance work, and some have found jobs as clerks with various county agencies.

Some 10 additional job openings may become available as the program progresses, she said, noting that two jobs are currently open for interested youths who meet the established criteria.

Ross County Needs Houses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Development Department says a survey conducted by a private real estate consulting firm shows there is a shortage of single and multifamily housing in Ross County.

Paul E. Baldridge, deputy director, said the study found that:

—Industrial development has increased and brought more people into the area.

—The vacancy rate is relatively low in existing housing.

—Economic conditions have created a shortage of housing for the elderly, many of whom are in the low income bracket.

—Existing housing units are structurally deficient.

—There will be an increase of low and moderate income families during the next five years.

Baldridge invited developers interested in providing housing in Ross County to contact the department for further information and technical assistance.

Rickenbacker Base Hospital Phased Down

Cutbacks in services to retired personnel and their families will be required as the Rickenbacker Air Force Base USAF Hospital phased down to a clinic operation Tuesday.

The cutback calls for retired personnel and their families and in some cases active duty military dependents, to use the Civilian Health and Medical Program for the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) to obtain health care.

The CHAMPUS system is similar to other civilian health programs where patients incur medical expenses only to a certain set figure. From that point, the program pays a major portion of the remaining costs.

Changing over from hospital to clinic status basically entails the complete loss of in-patient care capabilities. However other changes also will occur due to personnel reductions and the resultant loss of specialized skills.

The Rickenbacker clinic will be open only from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Once the clinic closes for the day, dependents of active duty personnel and retirees and their dependents will have to use CHAMPUS to seek emergency care off base. In these after-duty-hours situations, ambulance service from the base clinic will be available to transport emergency patients from the base to local area hospitals.

Specific areas of the clinic which will essentially remain the same as under its former hospital status are: pediatrics, gynecology, the pharmacy, and the clinical lab and X-ray department. Specialties within the clinic devoted to internal medicine and optometry will be able to provide service only to active duty personnel and their dependents.

In some situations, clinic patients will be referred to the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Hospital, near Dayton. Prospective patients are advised to check with the Rickenbacker clinic for guidance about CHAMPUS entitlements, referrals to Wright-Patterson or local treatment at the clinic.

ABA Sponsors TV Series

The Citizens Bank, through its membership in the American Bankers Association (ABA), will co-sponsor a special series of NBC Today shows in tribute to the U.S. Bicentennial, it was announced today by Eugene Wilson, executive vice president.

To be produced by the NBC television news department, the Today show Bicentennial Program series will begin on July 4, 1975, and continue each Friday for 52 weeks.

Each state and the District of Columbia will be the subject of a two-hour Today program during the year preceding the 200th anniversary of the nation. There will also be a single telecast covering U.S. territories.

The first program of the series will originate from Washington, D.C., and will serve to promote the entire series. The 50 states will then be saluted in the reverse order of their admission to the Union, beginning with Alaska and Hawaii and concluding with the 13 original colonies.

The final program on Friday, July 2, 1976, will salute one of the colonies with the richest early American history.

The ABA is the national association of the banking industry. Its membership includes nearly 14,000 banks, 96 per cent of the nation's total. Ohio's broadcast will be Dec. 26, 1975.

Rickenbacker Base Hospital Phased Down

Cutbacks in services to retired personnel and their families will be required as the Rickenbacker Air Force Base USAF Hospital phased down to a clinic operation Tuesday.

The cutback calls for retired personnel and their families and in some cases active duty military dependents, to use the Civilian Health and Medical Program for the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) to obtain health care.

The CHAMPUS system is similar to other civilian health programs where patients incur medical expenses only to a certain set figure. From that point, the program pays a major portion of the remaining costs.

Changing over from hospital to clinic status basically entails the complete loss of in-patient care capabilities. However other changes also will occur due to personnel reductions and the resultant loss of specialized skills.

The Rickenbacker clinic will be open only from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Once the clinic closes for the day, dependents of active duty personnel and retirees and their dependents will have to use CHAMPUS to seek emergency care off base. In these after-duty-hours situations, ambulance service from the base clinic will be available to transport emergency patients from the base to local area hospitals.

Specific areas of the clinic which will essentially remain the same as under its former hospital status are: pediatrics, gynecology, the pharmacy, and the clinical lab and X-ray department. Specialties within the clinic devoted to internal medicine and optometry will be able to provide service only to active duty personnel and their dependents.

In some situations, clinic patients will be referred to the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Hospital, near Dayton. Prospective patients are advised to check with the Rickenbacker clinic for guidance about CHAMPUS entitlements, referrals to Wright-Patterson or local treatment at the clinic.

SPEDY Funds Used To Help Young People Find Jobs

About 80 Pickaway County young people traded their summer "freedom" for good-paying jobs as the Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth (SPEDY) became operational.

Carol Smallwood, summer youth program director for the Pickaway County Community Action Agency, thinks "the program will work out real well this year" because there is "more money to work with than last year."

But the status of the SPEDY funding was in doubt, necessitating some last minute decisions on the part of PICCA.

Proposed Manpower Utilization money was frozen by President Gerald Ford's veto of the congress-approved measure. But, last week, the president signed the bill into law.

The funds filtered down through Ohio's Department of Economic and Community Development and were released recently to the Regional Manpower Service Council.

The six-county area of Pickaway, Madison, Fairfield, Fayette, Clinton, and Union, was granted $315,212.09 for implementation of the program, with PICCA receiving $42,712.09 for the nine-week period.

Ms. Smallwood and the PICCA staff interviewed about 130 young people who were interested in the program and selected 78 who met the program criteria.

The young people must be between the ages of 14 and 21 and must meet federal poverty income guidelines, she said.

Ms. Smallwood then had the task of contacting local non-profit agencies for utilization of the young people, who for the most part are unqualified and lack job experience.

Two counselors, Teresa Troutman and Jay Meena, serve as counselors for the program, coordinating and supervising the work of the young people with PICCA directives.

The 78 SPEDY workers will receive $2.10 an hour for their 25-hour work weeks. The program will end Aug. 31.

Primary purpose of the short-term employment is to enhance the future employability of the young people. SPEDY helps them adjust to work settings and provides jobs for those youth who have no definite occupational goal or for who no training or job opportunities immediately exist.

Most of the jobs involved seasonal maintenance work, Ms. Smallwood said, especially lawn maintenance at state parks and municipal cemeteries.

Some of the SPEDY people will be used in county and city school systems for janitorial and maintenance work, and some have found jobs as clerks with various county agencies.

Some 10 additional job openings may become available as the program progresses, she said, noting that two jobs are currently open for interested youths who meet the established criteria.

Ross County Needs Houses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Development Department says a survey conducted by a private real estate consulting firm shows there is a shortage of single and multifamily housing in Ross County.

Paul E. Baldrige, deputy director, said the study found that:

—Industrial development has increased and brought more people into the area.

—The vacancy rate is relatively low in existing housing.

—Economic conditions have created a shortage of housing for the elderly, many of whom are in the low income bracket.

—Existing housing units are structurally deficient.

—There will be an increase of low and moderate income families during the next five years.

Baldrige invited developers interested in providing housing in Ross County to contact the department for further information and technical assistance.

Dr. Lionel Newsom Takes Chairmanship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Lionel H. Newsom, president of Central State University, assumed the chairmanship of the Inter-University Council on Tuesday, succeeding Dr. Hollis A. Moore, president of Bowling Green State University.

The council, a voluntary association of the president and a board member of each of Ohio's 12 state-assisted universities and the Medical College of Ohio, meets to further the advancement of higher education in Ohio.

Slogan Wins Contest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ray Hammack, a Columbus science teacher, will be honored at this year's Ohio State Fair for his slogan, "Your Ticket to Fun," used to publicize the 1975 exposition.

Hammack's slogan was chosen from 8,000 entries.

ABA Sponsors TV Series

The Citizens Bank, through its membership in the American Bankers Association (ABA), will co-sponsor a special series of NBC Today shows in tribute to the U.S. Bicentennial, it was announced today by Eugene Wilson, executive vice president.

To be produced by the NBC television news department, the Today show Bicentennial Program series will begin on July 4, 1975, and continue each Friday for 52 weeks.

Each state and the District of Columbia will be the subject of a two-hour Today program during the year preceding the 200th anniversary of the nation. There will also be a single telecast covering U.S. territories.

The first program of the series will originate from Washington, D.C., and will serve to promote the entire series. The 50 states will then be saluted in the reverse order of their admission to the Union, beginning with Alaska and Hawaii and concluding with the 13 original colonies.

The final program on Friday, July 2, 1976, will salute one of the colonies with the richest early American history.

The ABA is the national association of the banking industry. Its membership includes nearly 14,000 banks, 96 per cent of the nation's total. Ohio's broadcast will be Dec. 26, 1975.

The former Republican senator was the first witness called as the trial of Gurney and three codefendants resumed following a three-day weekend recess.

A weekend recess was extended for an extra day in the 19-week trial so that Gurney could visit his widowed mother, who underwent surgery in Maine.

Derby News

There will be a bake sale at the Derby United Methodist Church next Saturday at 10 a.m. It is sponsored by the Sunday school classes of the church. Donations or other assistance will be most welcome.

The annual Derby Homecoming and Fish Fry will be held on July 24, 25, and 26th this year. It's a big event for both the Church and the community.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Anderson of Mt. Sterling from his pupils here and the Derby community on the birth of a daughter on June 24 in Mt. Carmel Hospital (State Street.)

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fields of Route 3, Orient, attended commencement ceremonies at Bowling Green State University on June 14, during which their son Jerrold Albert Fields received his bachelor of science in education degree.

They were accompanied by Jerrold's sister, Shirley Fields, and Miss Barbara Vance. This past quarter, Jerrold had a perfect 4.0 grade point average, and graduated with a cumulative point average of 3.23.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Doris Gantz of near Derby, and Mrs. Ada Gantz now of Grove City (formerly of Derby), were callers at the home of Miss Grace Minshall.

Mrs. Margaret Roberts and Hilda Roberts accompanied by Mrs. Martha Vincent, spent the afternoon visiting with their friend Mrs. Agnes Matthes who is a patient at the Norworth Convalescent Center, 6830 N. High St., Worthington, Ohio (43085).

They found Agnes feeling and looking very good, and much improved. She asked about her Derby friends and neighbors and would like very much to hear from them.

We are also very glad to see that Mrs. Martha Vincent is feeling much better and is able to get out some.

Miss Grace Minshall attended a birthday dinner on Sunday for Mrs. Ethel Gilmore of Warren Heights celebrating Mrs. Gilmore's 91st birthday. Miss Minshall accompanied Mrs. Lee Corder of near Derby and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Edna Corder of near Big Plain. Mrs. Gilmore's daughters, Mrs. Joanne Wilson of near Cleveland and Mrs. Rosemary Bryan, gave the dinner for their mother at Mrs. Bryan's home near Enon.

Airline Route Swap Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford approved a major route swap agreement today that will give American Airlines new routes to the Caribbean while making Pan American World Airways the only U.S. airline to fly to certain South Pacific points.

The swap agreement had been proposed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, but required President Ford's approval to go into effect.

In making its recommendation, the CAB rejected the arguments of its administrative law judge and the Justice Department that the swap should be rejected as not in the public interest. The Department of Transportation had supported the route exchange.

Telephone Customers Battling For Service

ARCADIA, Ohio (AP) — Some 100 customers of the Arcadia Telephone Co. have voted to put their bill payments in a trust fund in an effort to force the company to permit toll free calls from Arcadia to Findlay or Fostoria.

The company, owned by Telephone Data Systems of Madison, Wis., serves 650 customers.

Arcadia residents have been seeking the toll free service for more than one year. Arcadia is between Findlay and Fostoria.

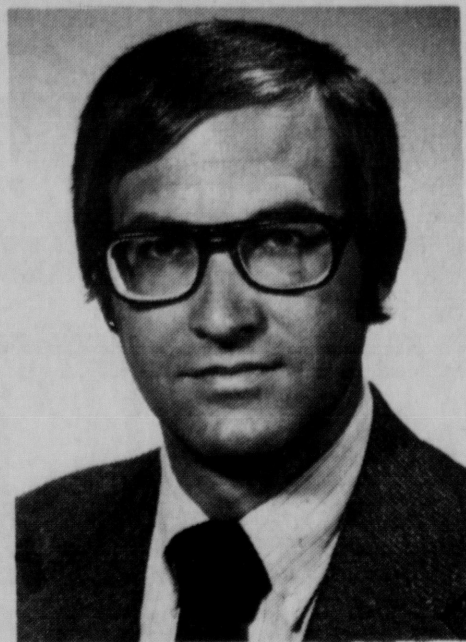

Solar Grain Dryer Tried

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—The sun gives Ohio farmers their corn, their soybeans, their wheat, but now agriculture is trying to get the sun to dry them as well.

Scientists at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center are experimenting with a solar dryer dreamed up by Frank R. Rom of Avon Lake.

The experiment isn't complete.

More drying will be done this fall on both soybeans and corn, but results last fall appeared promising if for nothing more than to save energy when the sun is shining.

Last fall, the unit dropped soybean moisture from 17 to 13 per cent in two days. Engineer Harold Keener said the moisture content of grain can be lowered from about 24 to 15 per cent in 30 to 45 days.

"You can't really give an exact figure," Keener said. "There are too many variables."

But, the Ohio engineers working with the Rom unit figure some kind of backup device will be needed during periods of protracted cloudiness.

The heating unit consists of a plastic sun collector shaped like a long Quonset hut 85 feet long by 12 feet wide. Three sheets of plastic comprise the shell.

The outer layer is clear plastic, the second nearly opaque and the inner layer completely opaque. The two inner layers trap the heat from the sun and electric fans blow it into adjoining 1,000-bushel metal bins.

Heated air is forced through the 300-bushel layers of grain and the flow of air suffices to keep the collecting layers of plastic inflated without any frame.

The OARDC engineers experienced one failure during periods of scarce system failed to provide enough heat to dry shelled corn.

Keener and engineer George Meyer figure they can, at least, partially handle the problem by insulating under the plastic collectors. Then all the radiant energy will be used for drying without heat loss to the ground under the collectors.

Rom spent 25 years as a propulsion engineer with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration before he developed his grain dryer. "Farmers we've talked with are extremely intrigued by the idea of solar energy," Rom said. "The only resistance we expect is their natural caution."

Rom said the crop dryer would raise the temperature of incoming air by 50 degrees on an average sunny October day.

"Of course, the sun doesn't shine all the time," he said, estimating that for any October the dryer could be expected to produce as much heat as 290 gallons of propane, enough to dry 3,400 bushels of corn.

A year ago a prototype was installed at the Wayne Dauch farm near Clyde. Dauch used it to dry wheat.

"It's doing the job," Dauch said. "I've got more heat than I need."

Several surveys on solar crop dryers by several universities and the federal government came to two conclusions — the most efficient equipment for drying has not yet been selected and that low-temperature drying is an energy and cost-saving alternative to conventional high-temperature drying currently used.

Several solar dryers are being tested in other states.

Women's Meeting Winding Up Today

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The International Women's Conference adopted a 10-year action plan for sexual equality late Tuesday night, then turned to controversial political issues at its closing sessions today.

The 10-year blueprint was adopted by acclamation without opposition. But heated debate and a split among the 133 delegations was expected on resolutions calling for the redistribution of the world's wealth and condemning Zionism along with colonialism and imperialism.

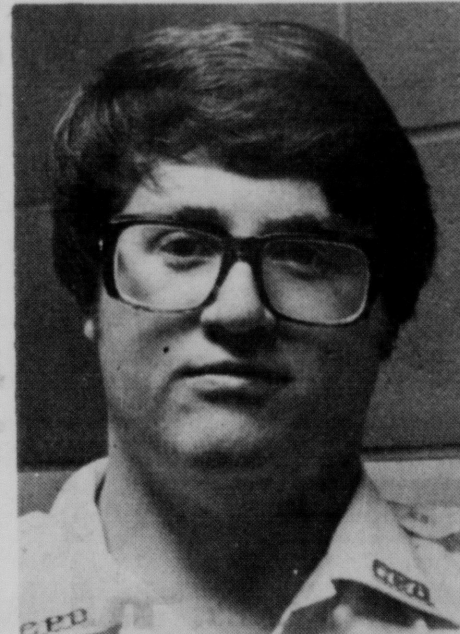

It is the major achievement of the two-week conference sponsored by the United Nations. The meeting, the focal point of the 1975 International Women's Year, brought together 1,300 official delegates. Another 4,000 attended a parallel, unofficial Tribune.

Assessments of the worth of the conference varied. But Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said it was "probably the most historic occasion in the history of women's struggle for liberation."

Changing society's stereotypes about women is a key goal of the plan of action, which declares, "A major obstacle in improving the status of women lies in public attitudes and values regarding women's roles in society."

First Patrolman Hired From Civil Service Test

Robert Galer, 21, 124 E. Franklin St., became the first man selected from the recent Civil Service examination to accept a position as Circleville Police Patrolman when he reported for duty on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift Tuesday.

PTL. ROBERT GALER

Galer scored in the 97th percentile of the examination and was one of the top four qualifiers, according to Police Sgt. Larry Pontious who has the task of screening persons who pass the test.

Galer, a native of Hammond, Indiana, lived briefly in Circleville with his family.

After attending La Porte High School in Hammond, he graduated from Circleville High School in 1971. He completed one year of school at Ohio University, Athens, and one year at Robert Morris College, Pittsburgh,

The document is intended to become a basic guide for governments, private groups and individuals to use to promote the equality of women with men.

It contains a large number of proposed programs and laws to end sexual discrimination. But it also stresses changing traditional attitudes about the woman's place, reflecting the delegates' contention that one major reason women have not pushed ahead is that they have accepted society's judgment that they cannot or should not.

The plan of action calls for textbooks to be revised to reflect women in positive, participatory roles in society; for career guidance programs to steer girls and boys toward work according to their aptitude, not on the basis of "deeply ingrained sex stereotypes"; and for a positive attitude toward hiring women regardless of their marital status.

One section of the blueprint deals with the effect the mass media have on attitudes toward women — "At the present time, the media tend to reinforce traditional attitudes, often portraying an image of women that is degrading and humiliating, and fail to reflect the changing roles of the sexes."

Keeping Score On The Rainfall

Pa., before graduating in June from Capital University, Columbus, with a degree in business management.

Galer is the son of Herbert and Betty Galer, Pittsburgh. His father is associated with U.S.S. Chemicals.

He has three sisters, Chris, Connie, and Amy.

Galer, who became "disillusioned with business" after working at a Columbus retail store during college, accepted the job because "I think it will be good experience and prove beneficial."

He was one of a dozen persons to successfully pass the examination of the 18 who tried.

With his appointment, the department is still short three men of filling its authorized quota of patrolmen. Currently on the staff are a chief, captain, three sergeants, and 10 patrolmen.

Luxury Car Sales On Upswing

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Luxury car sales continue to race upward, despite price increases fueled by inflation and the overall auto industry sales slump sparked by recession.

Ford Motor Co. Vice President John Naughton sums it up this way: "There is a certain group of buyers who want a luxury car...and price is not a consideration."

The price is high and going up all the time. The luxury category includes cars in the $9,000-and-up price range, topped off at a $70,000 sticker for the prestigious Rolls Royce Camargue.

The Cadillac El Dorado, with a sticker price of $8,711 in 1973, now costs almost $10,000. The Lincoln Continental is up from $8,483 to $9,656. Many luxury car buyers load up with options that cost additional thousands.

The luxury market has been on the upswing since 1971, when domestic luxury cars accounted for 2.9 per cent of the total market. Since then, the share has increased each year and now has 4.4 per cent of the 1975 market.

A sampling of sales figures of the luxury entries for the first five months of 1975 showed all but Chrysler's Imperial were doing well. The firm reportedly will discontinue the model this fall.

Six entries from America's Big Three auto companies are doing battle with a fleet of luxury imports, mainly Mercedes-Benz and Jaguar.

January through May sales figures show Jaguar up 137 per cent over a year ago; Mercedes-Benz up 19 per cent; Lincoln-Continental up 10 per cent; Cadillac up 7.3 per cent, and Imperial down 55 per cent.

Combined U.S. luxury cars sales are up 5 per cent, while overall U.S. car sales are down 18 per cent.

Cadillac is by far the biggest seller among luxury cars, with U.S. sales during January-May of 93,308 cars. Ford's Lincoln Division sold 33,590 cars; Mercedes-Benz delivered 17,042 and Jaguar sold 2,761.

Interest in luxury cars increased recently when Cadillac brought out its long-awaited smaller model, Seville — two feet shorter and half a ton lighter than the regular Cadillac.

The Seville joins the regular Cadillac and front-wheel drive Eldorado in the domestic luxury field along with Ford Motor Co.'s Lincoln Continental and Mark IV and Chrysler's Imperial.

Demand for luxury cars is found from wealthy suburbs to the back hills of Kentucky, where the rejuvenation of coal mines has led to a new affluence and a surprisingly demand for expensive cars.

New Muskingum Head

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John A. Brown assumed the presidency of Muskingum College on Tuesday.

The new president is the 17th in the 138-year history of the college. He succeeds Dr. William P. Miller, who retired.

Brown has served as a consultant to leading American educational agencies and foundations for the past two years.

Malpractice Cost Reasons Eyed

SHELBY, Ohio (AP) — The lack of personal contact between doctors and their patients is a major reason for the rising cost of malpractice insurance, an executive of a firm that was once a large carrier of malpractice insurance believes.

But everybody involved with malpractice claims "deserves a little bit of the blame," said Dean Boardman, assistant secretary of Shelby Mutual Insurance Co.

The firm, which now has 7,500 physicians covered for malpractice, plans to withdraw from the field by mid-1976. Boardman said malpractice insurance was costing the firm money.

Fundamental changes in medicine, such as doctors becoming more specialized and forming group practices, are among the main causes of the problem, Boardman said.

"Doctors today have lost individual contact with patients," he said. "In the old days, it was inconceivable for a person to sue the old family doctor, but people have absolutely no hesitation to sue today."

New drugs and medical techniques have increased the dangers, Boardman said. He noted that individuals don't always respond the same way to the new approaches.

"Everybody must take a little bit of the blame," he said. "The public expectation of doctors is too great. This is a consumer-oriented society, and if things don't turn out the way they think they should they sue."

Hospitals and attorneys must also share in the blame, he said. He suggested legislation that would aid doctors in their defense in malpractice cases.

Jury verdicts against doctors for more than a million are ridiculous, he said. "This has to force the rates up and the people are going to pay for it."

The rates are going up for doctors, he said, "because there is such a small number of these policyholders to spread the losses over."

Shelby Mutual, he said, lost $2.2 million in 1973 and $5.8 million in 1974 on malpractice lawsuits.

At a meeting in Mansfield last week, Boardman was asked by a physician if he thought it was ethical for an insurance company to demand all of a doctor's insurance business when they insure the doctor for malpractice.

Boardman replied that it was the only way many companies could provide malpractice insurance. He said if Shelby continued to offer it "we would jeopardize the whole universe of our other policyholders."

"If a manufacturer had as much difficulty withdrawing a product which was losing money from the line, Ford would still be making the Edsel," Boardman said.

Boardman suggested the use of paramedics as a way doctors could avoid the burden of routine affairs and keep from becoming too tired to perform their work well. It would also allow them more time for personal contact with their patients, he said.

Women's Meeting Winding Up Today

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The International Women's Conference adopted a 10-year action plan for sexual equality late Tuesday night, then turned to controversial political issues at its closing sessions today.

The 10-year blueprint was adopted by acclamation without opposition. But heated debate and a split among the 133 delegations was expected on resolutions calling for the redistribution of the world's wealth and condemning Zionism along with colonialism and imperialism.

It is the major achievement of the two-week conference sponsored by the United Nations. The meeting, the focal point of the 1975 International Women's Year, brought together 1,300 official delegates. Another 4,000 attended a parallel, unofficial Tribune.

Assessments of the worth of the conference varied. But Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said it was "probably the most historic occasion in the history of women's struggle for liberation."

Changing society's stereotypes about women is a key goal of the plan of action, which declares, "A major obstacle in improving the status of women lies in public attitudes and values regarding women's roles in society."

The document is intended to become a basic guide for governments, private groups and individuals to use to promote the equality of women with men.

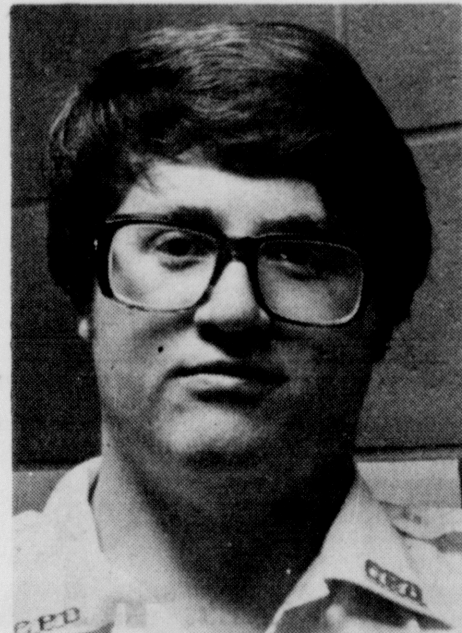

It contains a large number of proposed programs and laws to end sexual discrimination. But it also stresses changing traditional attitudes about the woman's place, reflecting the delegates' contention that one major reason women have not pushed ahead is that they have accepted society's judgment that they cannot or should not.

The plan of action calls for textbooks to be revised to reflect women in positive, participatory roles in society; for career guidance programs to steer girls and boys toward work according to their aptitude, not on the basis of "deeply ingrained sex stereotypes"; and for a positive attitude toward hiring women regardless of their marital status.

One section of the blueprint deals with the effect the mass media have on attitudes toward women — "At the present time, the media tend to reinforce traditional attitudes, often portraying an image of women that is degrading and humiliating, and fail to reflect the changing roles of the sexes."

First Patrolman Hired From Civil Service Test

Robert Galer, 21, 124 E. Franklin St., became the first man selected from the recent Civil Service examination to accept a position as Circleville Police Patrolman when he reported for duty on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift Tuesday.

PTL. ROBERT GALER

Galer scored in the 97th percentile of the examination and was one of the top four qualifiers, according to Police Sgt. Larry Pontious who has the task of screening persons who pass the test.

Galer, a native of Hammond, Indiana, lived briefly in Circleville with his family.

After attending La Porte High School in Hammond, he graduated from Circleville High School in 1971. He completed one year of school at Ohio University, Athens, and one year at Robert Morris College, Pittsburgh, Pa., before graduating in June from Capital University, Columbus, with a degree in business management.

Galer is the son of Herbert and Betty Galer, Pittsburgh. His father is associated with U.S.S. Chemicals.

He has three sisters, Chris, Connie, and Amy.

Galer, who became "disillusioned with business" after working at a Columbus retail store during college, accepted the job because "I think it will be good experience and prove beneficial."

He was one of a dozen persons to successfully pass the examination of the 18 who tried.

With his appointment, the department is still short three men of filling its authorized quota of patrolmen. Currently on the staff are a chief, captain, three sergeants, and 10 patrolmen.

Luxury Car Sales On Upswing

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Luxury car sales continue to race upward, despite price increases fueled by inflation and the overall auto industry sales slump sparked by recession.

Ford Motor Co. Vice President John Naughton sums it up this way: "There is a certain group of buyers who want a luxury car...and price is not a consideration."

The price is high and going up all the time. The luxury category includes cars in the $9,000-and-up price range, topped off at a $70,000 sticker for the prestigious Rolls Royce Camargue.

The Cadillac El Dorado, with a sticker price of $8,711 in 1973, now costs almost $10,000. The Lincoln Continental is up from $8,483 to $9,656. Many luxury car buyers load up with options that cost additional thousands.

The luxury market has been on the upswing since 1971, when domestic luxury cars accounted for 2.9 per cent of the total market. Since then, the share has increased each year and now has 4.4 per cent of the 1975 market.

A sampling of sales figures of the luxury entries for the first five months of 1975 showed all but Chrysler's Imperial were doing well. The firm reportedly will discontinue the model this fall.

Six entries from America's Big Three auto companies are doing battle with a fleet of luxury imports, mainly Mercedes-Benz and Jaguar.

January through May sales figures show Jaguar up 137 per cent over a year ago; Mercedes-Benz up 19 per cent; Lincoln-Continental up 10 per cent; Cadillac up 7.3 per cent, and Imperial down 55 per cent.

Combined U.S. luxury cars sales are up 5 per cent, while overall U.S. car sales are down 18 per cent.

Cadillac is by far the biggest seller among luxury cars, with U.S. sales during January-May of 93,308 cars. Ford's Lincoln Division sold 33,590 cars; Mercedes-Benz delivered 17,042 and Jaguar sold 2,761.

Interest in luxury cars increased recently when Cadillac brought out its long-awaited smaller model, Seville — two feet shorter and half a ton lighter than the regular Cadillac.

The Seville joins the regular Cadillac and front-wheel drive Eldorado in the domestic luxury field along with Ford Motor Co.'s Lincoln Continental and Mark IV and Chrysler's Imperial.

Demand for luxury cars is found from wealthy suburbs to the back hills of Kentucky, where the rejuvenation of coal mines has led to a new affluence and a surprisingly demand for expensive cars.

New Muskingum Head

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John A. Brown assumed the presidency of Muskingum College on Tuesday.

The new president is the 17th in the 138-year history of the college. He succeeds Dr. William P. Miller, who retired.

Brown has served as a consultant to leading American educational agencies and foundations for the past two years.

Malpractice Cost Reasons Eyed

SHELBY, Ohio (AP) — The lack of personal contact between doctors and their patients is a major reason for the rising cost of malpractice insurance, an executive of a firm that was once a large carrier of malpractice insurance believes.

But everybody involved with malpractice claims "deserves a little bit of the blame," said Dean Boardman, assistant secretary of Shelby Mutual Insurance Co.

The firm, which now has 7,500 physicians covered for malpractice, plans to withdraw from the field by mid-1976. Boardman said malpractice insurance was costing the firm money.

Fundamental changes in medicine, such as doctors becoming more specialized and forming group practices, are among the main causes of the problem, Boardman said.

"Doctors today have lost individual contact with patients," he said. "In the old days, it was inconceivable for a person to sue the old family doctor, but people have absolutely no hesitation to sue today."

New drugs and medical techniques have increased the dangers, Boardman said. He noted that individuals don't always respond the same way to the new approaches.

"Everybody must take a little bit of the blame," he said. "The public expectation of doctors is too great. This is a consumer-oriented society, and if things don't turn out the way they think they should they sue."

Hospitals and attorneys must also share in the blame, he said. He suggested legislation that would aid doctors in their defense in malpractice cases.

Jury verdicts against doctors for more than a million are ridiculous, he said. "This has to force the rates up and the people are going to pay for it."

The rates are going up for doctors, he said, "because there is such a small number of these policyholders to spread the losses over."

Shelby Mutual, he said, lost $2.2 million in 1973 and $5.8 million in 1974 on malpractice lawsuits.

At a meeting in Mansfield last week, Boardman was asked by a physician if he thought it was ethical for an insurance company to demand all of a doctor's insurance business when they insure the doctor for malpractice.

Boardman replied that it was the only way many companies could provide malpractice insurance. He said if Shelby continued to offer it "we would jeopardize the whole universe of our other policyholders."

"If a manufacturer had as much difficulty withdrawing a product which was losing money from the line, Ford would still be making the Edsel," Boardman said.

Boardman suggested the use of paramedics as a way doctors could avoid the burden of routine affairs and keep from becoming too tired to perform their work well. It would also allow them more time for personal contact with their patients, he said.

Orioles, Brewers Post Wins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

Last weekend, the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees only had eyes for each other. Suddenly, they're eyeing the Milwaukee Brewers and Baltimore Orioles, as well.

The Orioles outslugged the Red Sox 10-6 while the Brewers were defeating the Yankees 6-3 Tuesday night, further tightening the race in the American League's East Division. The Red Sox lead the Brewers and Yankees by one game, with the defending champion Orioles just 6½ games out.

Milwaukee, which begins a three-game set against the Red Sox tonight with a doubleheader, trailed by five games two weeks ago while the Orioles were nine games back as recently as last Friday.

Elsewhere, the Detroit Tigers downed the Cleveland Indians 6-2. The Oakland A's trounced the Chicago White Sox 10-1 and opened an eight-game bulge in the AL West over the Kansas City Royals, who bowed to the Texas Rangers 5-4. The Minnesota Twins routed the California Angels 12-3 after dropping the doubleheader opener 4-3 in 10 innings.

Brewers 6, Yankees 3

The Brewers posted their fourth consecutive victory behind the five-hit pitching of Jim Colborn and Rick Austin. George Scott had two doubles and a single, drove in a run and scored twice while ex-Yankee Mike Hegan drove in two runs with a single in the two-run first inning and a grounder in the Brewers' four-run third.

"I don't think we're hot," Colborn said, even though the Brewers have won 11 of 14 and 16 of 22. "This is the way we should play."

Orioles 10, Red Sox 6

Don Baylor broke a tie with a three-run homer off Reggie Cleveland in the seventh inning. May belted a run-scoring triple in the fourth, singled home a run in the eighth and also had a double. Bernie Carbo homered for the Red Sox.

Grant Jackson, the fourth Baltimore pitcher, ended a bases-loaded threat in the sixth by retiring Fred Lynn on a foul pop with the score tied 6-6 and worked 31-3 scoreless innings to earn the victory.

"We're starting to put some runs on the scoreboard once in a while," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "It's beginning to look as if the ball is finally starting to drop for us. That's been our biggest problem all season."

Tigers 6, Indians 2

Mickey Lolich pitched a three-hitter — one in each of the first three innings — and Ron LeFlore hit a two-run homer. Lolich upped his career mark against Cleveland to 30-15, most wins of any active pitcher against the Indians.

A's 10, White Sox 1

Vida Blue allowed four hits and one run — Carlos May's second-inning homer — in eight innings in coasting to his 12th triumph and Joe Rudi rapped three run-scoring singles as Oakland snapped the White Sox' nine-game winning streak, longest in the majors this season.

Claudell Washington had two singles, stole two bases and drove in a run and during the game A's owner Charles O. Finley announced he was giving the 20-year-old outfielder a $10,000 raise. Washington went into the game with a .304 average, 42 runs batted in and 29 stolen bases.

Rangers 5, Royals 4

Mike Cabbage homered and Mike Hargrove and Jim Sundberg rapped out three hits apiece for Texas. Ferguson Jenkins got the win despite three home runs by John Mayberry and one by Harmon Killebrew.

Angels 4-3, Twins 3-12

Mark Wiley, a 27-year-old rookie, gained his first major league victory by scattering eight hits in the nightcap while Rod Carew drove in five runs and Steve Braun and Steve Brye homered for Minnesota. The Angels took the opener on a 10th-inning homer by Ellie Rodriguez.

Seattle To Get Major League Baseball Franchise

SEATTLE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn says a major league team definitely will be assigned to Seattle, perhaps for the 1976 season.

Because baseball owners have cooled on expansion, the Seattle franchise more likely would be given an existing team having trouble in another city rather than a new team, Kuhn indicated.

He refused to speculate on which teams would be candidates for Seattle, but, in answer to questions, he said the San Francisco Bay Area cannot continue to support two teams.

Kuhn said neither the world champion Oakland Athletics nor the San Francisco Giants "has made any commitment to move the ballclub," but both have supported his negotiating efforts with officials of the two cities. Each team has a longrange lease commitment on a local stadium.

Kuhn was in Seattle to inspect King County's 60,000-seat domed stadium, scheduled for completion next March, just prior to the 1976 baseball season. He also discussed with County Executive John Spellman possible lease arrangements for a major league team.

"If I were a betting man, I'd bet major league baseball will be played in Seattle in 1976," Spellman said following the meeting.

"That's what we want to do," said Kuhn. He stopped short of promising a team for next year but conceded a major league team in Seattle is inevitable.

Reds Finally Top Astros, 8-7 in 15th

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It looked like it might go on forever," said Joe Morgan, who made sure it didn't.

The spunky Cincinnati second baseman produced a 15th-inning single that gave the Reds an 8-7 victory in their longest game of the year Tuesday night.

Morgan, who earlier drilled his 13th homer of the season to help the Reds overcome a 6-2 deficit, gave the Reds their ninth extra inning triumph in 12 decisions. Cincinnati's last four victories have been in extra innings.

The Reds' record-setting major league streak for errorless play ended at 15 games when left fielder Dan Driessen fumbled a single by Bob Watson in the fifth inning. The Reds bettered the former record by two and a half games.

Morgan said the recent rash of overtime games has been wearing. "The longer it goes, the worse it gets," said Morgan, who admitted he and his teammates were dog tired. "We had to get the babysitter home," quipped the 5-foot-7 Morgan.

His third hit of the game made a loser out of knuckleballer Joe Niekro, 2-4, for the second straight night.

"To be honest, I've had more trouble with Joe Niekro than Phil Niekro," said Morgan.

"Joe's knuckler is so much harder. It's usually right by me before I can pick it up," he said.

It was the Reds' 50th victory of the season and the 29th in the last 36 games.

Morgan, a shoo-in for a repeat berth on the National League All-Star team, said he had planned some extra batting practice today due to recent difficulties.

"I wasn't happy with the way I was swinging against lefthanders," said Morgan, who has been among the league's top 10 hitters for most of the season.

"I figured Ted Kluszewski and I could get it straightened out. But I think we'll cancel that extra session," he said, with a grin.

Baseball owners will have to make a decision on Seattle because of a $20 million lawsuit pending in Superior Court challenging the 1970 transfer of the Seattle Pilots' American League franchise to Milwaukee, where the team was renamed the Brewers.

The plaintiffs in the suit — Washington state, King County and the city of Seattle — agreed early last year to defer a trial until the owners decided whether they intended to return major league baseball to the city. The financially-troubled Pilots operated in Seattle for only one season.

Kuhn said Tuesday there has been no change in the status of the lawsuit.

Kuhn also said he is awaiting a report from American League President Lee MacPhail before taking any action on alleged clubhouse harassment and attacks against writers.

Detroit Manager Ralph Houk was charged with assault after an altercation with a Baltimore Evening Sun writer, and a Boston Globe columnist said he was jostled and chased from the Boston Red Sox locker room by second baseman Doug Griffin. Both incidents occurred last week after the newsmen had written stories critical of the teams.

"Obviously it is not anything that can be condoned," Kuhn said of the incidents. "It is wrong. I will do everything necessary to prevent it from happening again. This can't be permitted to happen again."

The luckless Astros pounded out 33 hits in back-to-back losses, watching big leads evaporate in both setbacks.

Bob Watson and Cliff Johnson had homers for Houston, but the Astros bullpen couldn't hold off the Reds.

Pat Darcy, one of two Cincinnati pitchers left, picked up the victory. He is 3-5.

Pete Rose extended his hitting streak to 13 games with a leadoff single for the fourth game in a row.

The series concludes tonight with Gary Nolan, 7-5, facing Larry Dierker, 7-7.

Jockey Angel Cordero scored his 100th Aqueduct racing win of 1975 with a chestnut colt called Irish Fun, a horse he had never ridden before.

Sluggers in the eighth-inning bout at Dodger Stadium, suffered a fractured wrist as a result of the bloodletting.

Ferguson was thrown out of the game along with teammates Willie Crawford and Dave Lopes. San Diego's John Grubb, another of the free swingers, also was forced to leave the field.

The fight apparently stemmed from an incident in the top half of the eighth when the Padres attempted to squeeze in a run, although they already held a 10-1 lead. Dodger reliever Charlie Hough, obviously thinking the run unnecessary, hit batter Dave Winfield with a pitch. Ferguson had to restrain the Padre slugger from challenging Hough.

In the bottom of the eighth, San Diego relief pitcher Bill Greif came back at the Dodgers, throwing four pitches dangerously close to Crawford. After the last one almost hit his ribs, Crawford stormed out to the mound and blasted Greif off his feet with some hard punches. Then Ferguson and the others jumped into the fray.

Seattle To Get Major League Baseball Franchise

SEATTLE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn says a major league team definitely will be assigned to Seattle, perhaps for the 1976 season.

Because baseball owners have cooled on expansion, the Seattle franchise more likely would be given an existing team having trouble in another city rather than a new team, Kuhn indicated.

He refused to speculate on which teams would be candidates for Seattle, but, in answer to questions, he said the San Francisco Bay Area cannot continue to support two teams.

Kuhn said neither the world champion Oakland Athletics nor the San Francisco Giants "has made any commitment to move the ballclub," but both have supported his negotiating efforts with officials of the two cities. Each team has a longrange lease commitment on a local stadium.

Kuhn was in Seattle to inspect King County's 60,000-seat domed stadium, scheduled for completion next March, just prior to the 1976 baseball season. He also discussed with County Executive John Spellman possible lease arrangements for a major league team.

"If I were a betting man, I'd bet major league baseball will be played in Seattle in 1976," Spellman said following the meeting.

"That's what we want to do," said Kuhn. He stopped short of promising a team for next year but conceded a major league team in Seattle is inevitable.

Seattle Manager Ralph Houk was charged with assault after an altercation with a Baltimore Evening Sun writer, and a Boston Globe columnist said he was jostled and chased from the Boston Red Sox locker room by second baseman Doug Griffin. Both incidents occurred last week after the newsmen had written stories critical of the teams.

"Obviously it is not anything that can be condoned," Kuhn said of the incidents. "It is wrong. I will do everything necessary to prevent it from happening again. This can't be permitted to happen again."

Reds Finally Top Astros, 8-7 in 15th

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It looked like it might go on forever," said Joe Morgan, who made sure it didn't.

The spunky Cincinnati second baseman produced a 15th-inning single that gave the Reds an 8-7 victory in their longest game of the year Tuesday night.

Morgan, who earlier drilled his 13th homer of the season to help the Reds overcome a 6-2 deficit, gave the Reds their ninth extra inning triumph in 12 decisions. Cincinnati's last four victories have been in extra innings.

The Reds' record-setting major league streak for errorless play ended at 15 games when left fielder Dan Driessen fumbled a single by Bob Watson in the fifth inning. The Reds bettered the former record by two and a half games.

Morgan said the recent rash of overtime games has been wearing. "The longer it goes, the worse it gets," said Morgan, who admitted he and his teammates were dog tired. "We had to get the babysitter home," quipped the 5-foot-7 Morgan.

His third hit of the game made a loser out of knuckleballer Joe Niekro, 2-4, for the second straight night.

"To be honest, I've had more trouble with Joe Niekro than Phil Niekro," said Morgan.

"Joe's knuckler is so much harder. It's usually right by me before I can pick it up," he said.

It was the Reds' 50th victory of the season and the 29th in the last 36 games.

Morgan, a shoo-in for a repeat berth on the National League All-Star team, said he had planned some extra batting practice today due to recent difficulties.

"I wasn't happy with the way I was swinging against lefthanders," said Morgan, who has been among the league's top 10 hitters for most of the season.

"I figured Ted Kluszewski and I could get it straightened out. But I think we'll cancel that extra session," he said, with a grin.

Baseball owners will have to make a decision on Seattle because of a $20 million lawsuit pending in Superior Court challenging the 1970 transfer of the Seattle Pilots' American League franchise to Milwaukee, where the team was renamed the Brewers.

The plaintiffs in the suit — Washington state, King County and the city of Seattle — agreed early last year to defer a trial until the owners decided whether they intended to return major league baseball to the city. The financially-troubled Pilots operated in Seattle for only one season.

Kuhn said Tuesday there has been no change in the status of the lawsuit.

Kuhn also said he is awaiting a report from American League President Lee MacPhail before taking any action on alleged clubhouse harassment and attacks against writers.

Detroit Manager Ralph Houk was charged with assault after an altercation with a Baltimore Evening Sun writer, and a Boston Globe columnist said he was jostled and chased from the Boston Red Sox locker room by second baseman Doug Griffin. Both incidents occurred last week after the newsmen had written stories critical of the teams.

"Obviously it is not anything that can be condoned," Kuhn said of the incidents. "It is wrong. I will do everything necessary to prevent it from happening again. This can't be permitted to happen again."

Jockey Angel Cordero scored his 100th Aqueduct racing win of 1975 with a chestnut colt called Irish Fun, a horse he had never ridden before.

Dodgers Win Fight, Lose Game

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers are hitting for a change — but this time it's with their fists, not their bats.

The Dodgers, no doubt bothered by their poor performance of late, took out their frustrations on the San Diego Padres Tuesday night with a bench-clearing brawl.

The Dodgers won the fight, but lost the game, 10-1.

"The brawl might spur 'em on, make them a better ballclub," said Dodger Manager Walt Alston, whose team lost its sixth game in the last seven, "but I sure hate to lose Joe Ferguson for eight weeks."

Ferguson, the muscled Los Angeles catcher who was one of the main event

Tigers Top Cleveland; Win Tilt 6-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — It looked as if Mickey Lolich's pot belly threw him off balance and sent him stumbling down the pitchers mound.

"I just tripped," said Lolich, who recovered from his initial appearance on the mound Tuesday night to hold Cleveland to three hits as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Indians 6-2 in an American League baseball contest.

Lolich doesn't usually stumble when he faces the Indians and the victory, which increased his season record to 9-5, continued his dominance of the Tribe, upping his career total over them to 30-15.

"You don't really think about a thing like that," said the 34-year-old lefthander, who carries much of his 215 pounds around his waist. "When you're bound to win a few here and there."

Lolich gave up hits in the first three innings and one of them was Charlie Spikes' fourth home run of the season.

In the sixth the Indians collected their second run when Frank Duffy reached second on leftfielder Dan Meyer's error, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt and scored on Buddy Bell's sacrifice fly.

"I've changed my pitching style a little this year," said Lolich, who struck out four batters. "I'm not relying on my fastball much and I'm not striking out as many batters. I used to be consistent with eight or nine strikeouts a game up until this year. I'm getting older."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You could be tempted now to turn from a profitable to a less productive course. Consider the whole picture. Avoid the pitfalls of heedlessness and haste.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Tread watchfully, to avoid needless errors and rubbing others the wrong way. Tact and understanding will do a great deal to keep matters going smoothly.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Don't just dream about success. Forward strides in business, family matters and other areas CAN be made if you emphasize your gift for clever management.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Trend is toward the unusual. Rightly handled, this can be pertinent and profitable. The conservative course, however, should not be underestimated at the proper times.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Introduce a new note (perhaps a new purpose) for added incentive in making long-range plans. Output will substantially improve in so doing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23):

Follow through on well-devised plans and procedures and don't be sidetracked by nonessentials. Consider the suggestions of others but tailor them to suit your own needs.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your financial situation about to improve. A member of the opposite sex will provide useful information—and inspiration. You will know what has to be done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Some favorable hours; others may present unexpected obstacles. With a steady step and self-confidence, however, you can take all in stride.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Present tendencies toward impulsiveness and excitement suggest that you handle all situations with "kid gloves." Regulate hours so that you will have time to enjoy a hobby.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Make no changes in matters now running smoothly, but keep looking, nevertheless, toward areas in which there could be "standstills," where new tactics may be needed.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb. 19): Generous stellar influences make this an excellent day for promoting unusual ideas and plans. Romance favored, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Now's the time to make the first move toward the attainment of a special goal. You have plenty of stellar support to back you.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most artistically gifted of all Cancerians and could succeed in such creative lives as painting, writing music or as a theatrical entertainer. But, somewhat unusual in such cases, you also have a fine head for business and finance. Thus, should you choose the world of commerce and industry as a life work and one of the arts as an avocation, your natural satisfactions would be doubly fulfilled. On the business side, you could excel as a banker, stockbroker, investment counselor or insurance expert. Personally, you are generally conventional and conservative in your thinking and have an intense love of home and family. Birthdate of: King Louis XI, of France; Henry Grattan, Irish statesman; John Mason Brown, dramatic critic.

Gardner Sets Steeplechase Record

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Anders Garderud of Sweden clipped his own six-day-old world record by six-tenths of a second in a gruelling 3,000-meter steeplechase race at an international track and field meet Tuesday, and said he won't be running for world marks any more.

"It's enough for me now," said the tall, blond Swede after clocking 8:09.8 before a capacity crowd of 20,000 cheering fans at the Olympic stadium here.

"From now on I'll be running for victory, that's the most important thing for me. I want to win the gold medal at the Montreal Olympics next year. I want that medal badly."

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — On Friday, July 4, ABC is airing a series pilot based on "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," the 1967 movie which starred Sidney Poitier in a story of interracial romance.

Bill Overton, who has the Poitier role in ABC's half-hour version, is pleased that he got the job. But he says he's ticked off at ABC for rescheduling the show from May 28 to the night of July 4.

On that night, he reasons, few viewers will be around. They'll be out watching fireworks shows, travelling to holiday campsites and otherwise passing up TV.

The 28-year-old actor, in a phone interview from Boston where he's visiting relatives, said he didn't know why ABC reset the program for a night he feels will have a small TV audience.

ABC says the move was made "because we felt it would play better in July. It's a fresh program that will be competing only with reruns."

And ABC vigorously denied any suggestion the move was made to reduce adverse audience reaction to a program about the marriage of a black man to a white woman.

Overton who'd made such a suggestion in a newspaper interview last month, didn't repeat it this week when asked if he had any idea of why ABC had shifted "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" to the night of July 4.

"Not really," he said. "I really can't point the finger at anybody."

"But it's frustrating because the show is a fabulous piece of material, a fabulous opportunity for me and a great opportunity for the educational values of the whole project."

By educational values, he said, he meant that the show, with its mixed-marriage theme, attacks racism "right in the eye ... we've never had this kind of situation before (on TV), had a man other than a Caucasian having a romantic situation with a white woman."

In the movie, directed by Stanley Kramer, Poitier played a distinguished black scientist engaged to a white woman—Katherine Houghton.

ISRAELI PRIME — One of key figures in Israeli-Egyptian peace negotiations is Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, above. In a Washington, D.C., visit, he has said Israel is prepared to do whatever possible to achieve peace in the Middle East.

Jim Connors Gives Credit To Nastase

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Fiery Ilie Nastase is no longer competing at Wimbledon this year, but he may be a prime reason why Jimmy Connors is the odds-on favorite to retain his singles' title here.

Connors has reached the semifinals without dropping a set and says he owes much of that success to the controversial, temperamental Romanian, an early casualty in this year's competition.

One of his secret weapons, he says, is a daily practice with Nastase, his close friend and doubles partner. "Every day he plays different," said Connors, explaining why he's able to sharpen his game against any sort of tactics.

Connors, 22, powered his way past Mexico's stylish Ray Ramirez 6-4, 8-6, 6-2 Tuesday, making some mistakes but playing what he described as "really tough tennis" when he needed to.

The defending champion is one of three American semifinalists who will play on Thursday. He'll face fellow lefthander Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., who survived a testing five-set quarterfinal against Guillermo Vilas of Argentina to win 6-4, 5-7, 6-8, 6-2, 6-2. Tanner relied on his big serve to ace Vilas 23 times.

Mrs. Elza Brooks and son Bobby visited Mrs. Christine Neff, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brigner and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brigner.

Larry Peters and son Ronnie and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Perkins and family were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schaltz of Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Schaltz and sons were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Schaltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hulise and Jodi, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Rickabaugh, Mrs. Christine Neff, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ankrom attended the wedding of Jerisue Rasor, and Warren Houshon at West Park Methodist Church, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Certain Jr. and family visited Mrs. James Certain Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hulise and Jodi are spending the week at Virginia Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ankrom Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kegg visited Mrs. Christine Neff Sunday.

Merchants Clear $2,260.50 On Car

Rosemary Linn reported to the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday that the Retail Merchants Committee had cleared $2,260.50 from the sale of tickets on the 1930 Chevrolet. Mrs. Linn is chairman of the committee that sponsored the raffle.

The gross sale amounted to $3,318.50. She explained that several people did not wish to purchase a ticket on the car but made donations to the cause. Those donations totaled $28.50.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase artificial Christmas trees. The next project planned by the merchants is the sidewalk sale scheduled for July 18.

Chamber president T. D. Van Camp read a letter to the board of directors from the Great Seal State Park Commission of Chillicothe. The group is interested in preserving a portion of the land recognized as the site of the great seal. Several plans were explained in the letter which asked the local Chamber to take a stand and support one of the plans.

After a discussion, the board members present decided to write back and indicate an interest in the park itself but not to make a commitment to any of the plans set forth.

The board voted to purchase either a sheep or a swine this year at the Pickaway County Fair. It has been the practice of the Chamber to purchase one of these animals annually.

Van Camp then presented a proposal to the board concerning the trash receptacles in the downtown area. Presently, the company which originally supplied the containers has gone out of business and the city has purchased the 25 units at a cost of $25 each.

The proposal of the president was for the Chamber to buy the containers and sell advertisement. If the city maintains ownership, the ad panels will be replaced with blank panels.

Van Camp said the revenue from the advertisements could gross between $2,000 and $3,000 depending on the number of containers left on the streets.

Several questions were posed and he promised to have answers to them by the next meeting. No action was taken.

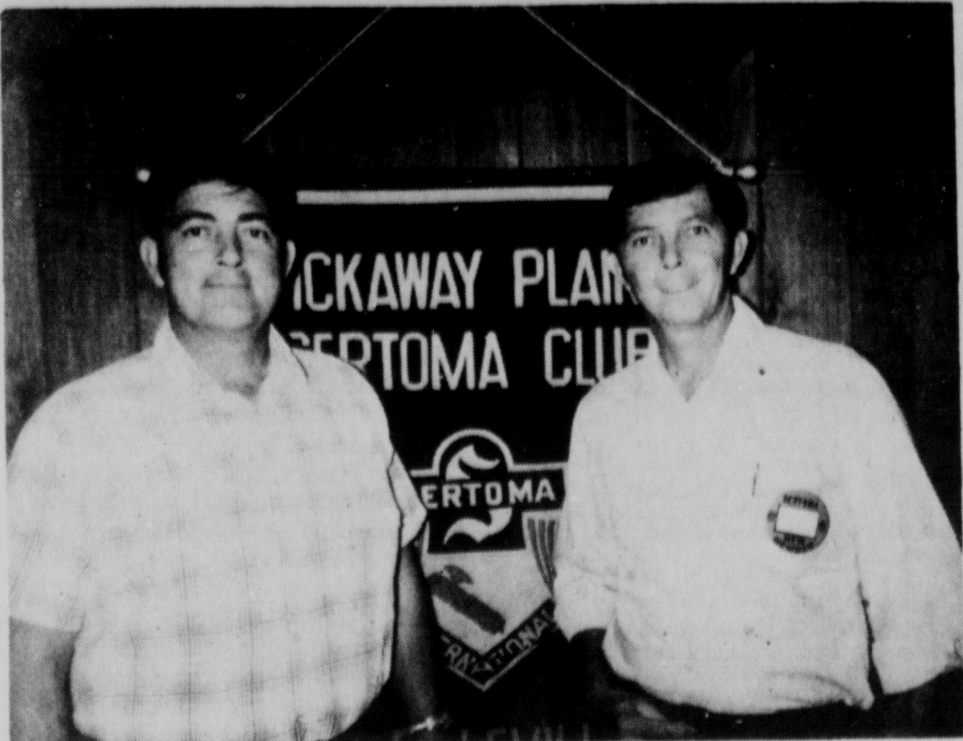

A discussion was also presented on the Chamber's position on the governor's four-point plan. It was agreed to have the petitions available at the Chamber office.

Steve Stevenson, representing the Legislative Committee, reported that Myrl Shoemaker and the executive director of the Farm Bureau had spoken at a recent meeting of the committee. He said the committee had also heard from Greg Bigam on the federal funding programs in Pickaway County.

According to Jo Ann Brink, chairperson of the Membership Committee, renewals of Chamber memberships have not been coming in as expected.

A final committee report was given by Richard Gerhardt of the Area Development Committee. He announced a meeting of the Olde Courthouse Circle Commission to be held at the Historical Society on July 8 at 7:30 p.m. He also advised the board that his committee had sent out industries regarding their reactions to the solicitation of new industry to the area.

Van Camp closed the noon meeting with the announcement of a physical fitness night to be held at the YMCA on July 16.

SERTOMA BROTHERS—Wayne Frazier joined his brother Don as the newest member of the Pickaway Plains Sertoma Club at the regular Tuesday night meeting at the L-K Restaurant. Mrs. Betty Joliffe, director of nursing at Berger Hospital, was the guest speaker, outlining the history and use of anesthetics. In other business, the club made final arrangements to participate in the Ashville 4th of July celebration and welcomed Bob Fetherolf, Jim Deal, and Dr. Primo Exconde as guests.

Ohio State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson released payment of $33,676.170 in the July Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) which Pickaway County will receive $51,579.

Ferguson noted that while the July case count decreased by 1,386 from last month, the total payment rose by $5,180,994. He attributed the larger payment to a recent hike in ADC benefits of about $11 per recipient. ADC payments are made to families with one parent or one unemployed parent on the basis of family size and financial resources. The ADC program is funded primarily by the federal and state governments.

Teays Valley Board Names Miss Cole To High School Staff

Miss Christina Sue Cole was employed Tuesday night by the Teays Valley Board of Education to serve as assistant high school principal. The board met in continued session to consider five applicants for the position.

Local Superintendent Benis Lutz had narrowed the applicants to that number and presented those five to the board for final consideration.

Miss Cole has served for the past four years as guidance counselor for the Plain Local School District in New Albany. For two years prior to her acceptance of that position, she was a teacher in the Olentangy Local School District.

The new assistant principal is a native of Lancaster and a 1962 graduate of Lancaster High School. She attended Denison University and received her bachelor of arts degree in sociology from there in 1966. At Denison, she was on the Dean's List and was a member of several student organizations.

Miss Cole later attended Ohio State University and completed her bachelor of science degree in education in 1968. Her major field was social studies. She then completed the Ohio State University requirements for a masters degree in guidance in 1971.

Additional course work completed in 1974, qualified the young lady for a position in secondary administration.

Lutz said this morning that since the contract is for ten months, the new assistant principal will begin in the middle of August. Her position calls for two weeks extended service prior to the beginning of the school year and two weeks after school closes in the spring.

In other action Tuesday, the board discussed the motion passed earlier on the boiler situation at Ashville Elementary. The Board regarded the lateness of the date and difficulty of obtaining materials and getting installation completed.

Due to these factors, the board passed a resolution of urgent necessity and awarded the contract for the repairs and installation to the Iron Firemen Company of Columbus. The work is to begin as quickly as possible.

The board will meet in regular session for its July meeting on the 14th. Bids on services and the budget hearing will be on the agenda for that meeting.
